CHEST CAMPAIGN CONTINUES THROUGH THURSDAY

COOLIDGE IS SILENT BUT WATCH 1932, IS TIP FROM ROGERS

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—I will say one thing about this campaign. After running for months without an "issue" they have finally found one, that is the Republicans have. It's Smith, that's their issue.

Al sure is drawing the crowds. If I was him I wouldn't care whether I was elected or not. He can go in vaudeville and make more than a president, 'cause there is always plenty of things to denounce as long as there is a Republican administration.

Coolidge won't come out for either side. He is afraid it will be held against him in 1932.

Paste that in your hat and remember it. I am the original Coolidge-in-'32 man.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Tonight's the night—Hallowe'en. Beware that you do not overstep the bounds of harmless fun, boys and girls, in your celebration of the night.

Last night was what might be called—Front porch light night. There were few homes about the city that didn't have the porch light burning. Gangs of youngsters were out celebrating Hallowe'en prematurely and the porch lights were burning as a sort of safety first idea on the part of home owners or occupants.

Have the Community Chest workers called on you yet? If not be prepared, for they'll be around to see you before the campaign closes.

Alcohol is already being used by some auto owners as a precaution against frozen radiators. The weather of the past few nights has been colder that usual for this time of the year.

In Reading there are 240 voters registered of more than 80 years of age. Wonder how many in New Castle?

Jury Commissioner M. C. Kennedy is the first claimant for a large family vote for Hoover. Twenty four votes in his family for the Republican party candidate. Anybody beat this record here?

Make arrangements to vote early on next Tuesday.

Again the choke of the sputtering mechanism. Pa Newc judges the weather by watching motorists start their cars in the morning and also in his own success with the variety which is dear to his heart and purse. The automobile weather man says that it was warmer this morning. Was it, I wonder?

By the number of sample ballots that have been distributed, and the speeches, newspaper articles, and general talk about the proposed amendments there is no need for any one to go to the polls and spend a half hour usurping time reading the ballots. If you haven't got a ballot as yet get one and get your education over with in order that all may vote.

Pa Newc hears a story related by a Community Chest worker of last year. It was raining and the house stood on a knoll which was accessible only by several sets of steep steps. They almost decided not to go up. It didn't look at all like a prospect. It was cold anyhow, so what was the use. Well, "You can never tell," said one of the pair composing the team. They climbed the stairs at a risk of life and limb and the lady of the house gave $100 to the Chest and in cash. "Appearances are deceitful," said King Solomon.

Pa Newc observed a man at the corner of Grant and Jefferson streets last night inquiring the way to New Castle. Pa Newc believes that the way is marked sufficiently well to prove that the man couldn't see, was intoxicated or just plain dumb. Anyhow, he was a stranger.

Pears Scores Attitude Of Some Of Shirkers Found In New Castle

Coming back at noon today after a morning's work canvassing, the solicitors of the Community Chest reported a total of $3,716.86. This brings the total of the drive to date up to $47,757.00. Because it appeared that the grand total of $80,000.000 would not be reached tonight the end of the second day it was decided to continue the drive through Thursday.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey was the speaker of the day at the noon luncheon of the solicitors in the Cathedral. "This is not my responsibility or your responsibility, it is our responsibility" said Mr. Dickey.

Facts Not Tteories.

"We are not faced with any theories on the conducting of charitable organizations, we are faced with the fact that we have these organizations here, ministering to their various fields, and the responsibility for the maintenance of these institutions rests upon all of us, rich and poor proportionately."

Herbert A. Pears, who is in charge of the drive presided and urged upon the solicitors the necessity of increased effort. "This is an intensive drive" said Mr. Pears, "one that challenges the best that is in us. It must go over and it will go over if we see the people."

Seek Separate Trials For Two Thrill Killers

Counsel For George Harsh And Richard Gallogly Seek Separate Trials

TENTATIVE DATE IS NOVEMBER 13

Officials Build Up Strong Case Of Murder Against Collegiate Slayers

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Oct. 31.—A "perfect case" has been built up against George Harsh and Richard Gallogly, alleged "thrill" murderers, prosecutors announced today.

The two college youths probably will go on trial Nov. 13. The date, however, is still tentative.

Defense counsel indicated today they would seek separate trials for the scions of wealthy families. Should this be allowed, the state plans to put Harsh on trial first, because they believe they have a stronger case against him. Harsh confessed, police said, to killing two store clerks during a series of holdups and implicated Gallogly.

Over in Fulton Tower Harsh and his companion settled down today to jail routine. Harsh maintains a confident manner.

In reply to queries, police said they have made no attempt to connect Harsh with a daring holdup and murder in Milwaukee.

Although they have forwarded photographs and fingerprints of Harsh as requested by Milwaukee authorities, they have not thus far grailled the erstwhile university student regarding the killing of Emil Musswellen, aged grocer, in the Wisconsin City.

Wisconsin Interested.

Detective Chief A. Lamar Poole said he would not question Harsh about the Musswellen murder until he was asked to do so by Wilwaukee police, who, according to reports, are trying to connect him with the fatal shooting.

It was stated by authorities here that Harsh, who spends his vacations with his widowed mother near Milwaukee, was in the Wisconsin city during September, the month of the killing, and that the gun purported to have been used in the series of Atlanta crimes was brought here from that place.

Escaped Prisoner Finally Captured In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31.— Ingenious disguise failed to prevent the capture of Basil Banghart, 38, arrested in Philadelphia, where he fled after escaping from a deputy united states marshal here.

The federal officers who captured Banghart Sunday reported here today that Banghart, a blond, had died his hair black, was wearing dark glasses and had shaved off a mustache.

Banghart's escape here was made while he was awaiting removal to Atlanta penitentiary where he and two others had gained their freedom about two years ago by sawing the prison bars. He had been apprehended in Bedford, Pa., after a two-year search.

TERHUNE WILL BE GIVEN PASSPORT

(International News Service)

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Oct. 31.—J. E. Kehl, United States consul at Stuttgart, arrived here today to provide Clarence Terhune, the Graf Zeppelin stowaway, with a regular passport. It is expected that this will avert the $5 fine that the St. Louis youth would have had to pay for entering the country without a passport.

Smith Making Greatest Effort To Get Big Vote In Eastern States

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The most spectacular Presidential campaign in a generation turns into the stretch with both sides publicly proclaiming a great deal of confidence and privately admitting quite a few doubts.

The Democrats are asking themselves if Governor Smith can hold the East. The Republicans are asking themselves if Secretary Hoover can overcome the admitted Republican disaffection in the farming states. And both Republicans and Democrats join in trying to analyze the enormous increase in registration that is nation-wide.

Of only one thing are both sides absolutely certain. That is that next Tuesday will see the greatest electoral army ever assembled marching to the polls to make the decision. There is not a single state that does not show greatly increased registra-

Tuesday Evening Celebration Draws 15,000 To South Side Section

Greatest Celebration In History Of Busy Long Avenue District

Slabtown hit the front page Tuesday night! Hit it with a bang that startled the old place into a liveliness it has not seen since sodas were a nickle. Startled it into having 15,000 people crammed and jammed into Long avenue from the schoolhouse down to Jefferson street, for what was the most successful community affair ever staged on the South Side.

Some of the weaker hearted brothers on the committee were afraid Tuesday afternoon that there wouldn't be many folks attend the celebration. The same brothers were worried at eight o'clock last night as to where the crowd would be put. One lad walked three blocks on other people's feet, so dense was the crowd, and another in reaching for his pocketbook got into a stranger's hip pocket.

And All Good-Natured

It was all in fun, as Sitting Bull said to the frontiersman the day he parted his hair with a tomahawk, and nobody got offended at a trifle like

Zeppelin Over Bay Of Biscay About 10:30 O'clock This Morning

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Graf Zeppelin was over the Bay of Biscay, 140 miles off Bordeaux, France, at 3:30 p. m. Greenwich mean time, or 10:30 a. m. eastern standard time, the British air ministry announced this afternoon.

BORDEAUX, France, Oct. 31.—The wireless station at Merignac reported that the Graf Zeppelin flew over the Gulf of Gascony at 11:21 o'clock this morning, French time.

The Gulf of Gascony is on the extreme southern coast of France, just above the Spanish border, near Biarritz, indicating that the Zeppelin has been forced onto a course far south of that contemplated just as was the case on the airship's westward flight.

It is some 400 miles southwest of Paris.

From the Gulf of Gascony the Graf Zeppelin with its 24 passengers, crew of 40, and one stowaway, will have to travel more than 600 miles in a direct airline before reaching its home hangar at Friedrichshafen. As it was almost noon when the ship reached the gulf, it was estimated that it would not reach its destination until late tonight.

Syling, and other school authorities will likely attend.

The consolidated school structure of 21 class rooms will accommodate students to the number of nearly 800. It will be of fireproof construction in its entirety. Work is expected to be completed by August 1, 1929.

HUGHES ASSAILS POLICIES ADVANCED BY SMITH

(International News Service)

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 31.—Calling for a careful weighing of the campaign issues and assailing Governor Alfred E. Smith on the prohibition, tariff and other problems, Charles Evans Hughes today had carried his speaking tour for Herbert Hoover into New England.

Before an enthusiastic audience of 7,000 persons here last night, the distinguished jurist warned against the "invasion of the disastrous policies" as advanced by the Democratic presidential nominee.

Governor Smith, he said, endorses policies which "if I understand him right, would introduce government into business on a vast scale with a vast increase of bureaucrats."

The former secretary of state characterized the Smith stand on prohibition as a "sham battle".

POLICE REGULATIONS FOR THIS EVENING

Police regulations for the Hallowe'en celebration this evening were announced this morning by Chief of Police C. C. Horner and the people of the city are requested to obey them as far as possible in order that the celebration may be a success and carried out without trouble.

All parking of motor or other vehicles is prohibited on North Jefferson street from North to Falls street; on Falls between Beaver and Mercer streets and on Washington street between the public square and County Line street from 7 p. m. until after the parade.

The entire police force will be on duty this evening and the people witnessing the parade are requested to remain on the sidewalks and refrain from going out into the street and interfering with the marchers.

The reviewing stand will be on Washington street in front of the Robins Furniture store and the street will be roped off in the square in which it is located. The people are requested to remain behind the ropes so as not to interfere with the judges and their assistants in selecting contenders for the various prizes that are

Johnstown Man Is Shooting Victim

Prominent Johnstown Produce Merchant Victim Of Gunmen In Front Of Home

BELIEVE ENEMIES PLANNED ATTACK

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 31.—State, city and county police were combing this city and its environs today for gunmen who shot and probably mortally wounded George Cupp, 50, a prominent local produce merchant, as he was alighting from his car in front of his home last night.

Five shots from a revolver were fired into Cupp's body, the bullets penetrating both his stomach and spine. As his assailants escaped from the scene in an automobile, Cupp's family were attracted by the shots and found him lying on the front porch in a pool of blood.

The police were summoned and the injured man was rushed to the Memorial hospital, where little hope was entertained for his recovery.

The shooting is being laid to the hands of a local Black Hand gang, and it is the belief of the authorities that jealousy of Cupp's business influenced the attempt on his life.

Cupp operates the largest produce store in the city and was returning home from his work when the shooting occurred.

having his feet made a parade ground. It was one night in the year when feelings were left in the refrigerator and for the evening politics, business and the latest developments in the progress of the baby's teeth were forgotten in the potpourri of merriment.

Long before 7:30 the mummers were forming on Long avenue. Hundreds of them. One wondered where all the youngsters came from, but with the youngsters were scores of adults. The prize list was so attractive that many from other parts of the city were there, and indeed, the big prize of $25 for the best group was won by a bang of 11 "convicts" from Ellwood City, garbed in the prevailing color scheme of stripes effected by the undergraduates of Sing Sing.

There were costumes there that must have taken hours of patience and toil to put together. Indians, tramps and clowns, ballet dancers and Chinese, blackface and flapper. Mummers dressed in cornstalks and some in leaves, and fortunately there wasn't much wind.

The Line Moves Out

At eight o'clock, with half of the police force and a large crowd of South siders acting as aides, the line of march moved out, with the South Side band at the head. Flare bearers with red lights preceded the parade, with motorcycle officers and foot officers following and then the grand marshal, Ivor V. Davis, and his aides. In the middle of the line was the Croton Drum Corps and then more mummers back of them.

Down the streets they went, past thousands of spectators, and then up Long avenue past the judges' stand. Now the judges in this case were not just anybody. The South Siders picked a selected list of judges, headed by M. A. Markley. In the judges' stand were Mayor William H. Gillespie, Councilman D. O. Davies, School Director J. Herb McIlvenny, Principal Anna P. Perry, Miss Jean Ferguson, director of the A. S. & T. P. welfare house, and Frank F. Golis. As the mummers passed the stand the prospective winners were given tickets which admitted them to the Lincoln-Garfield gymnasium. Here Joe Alexander scanned their admissions and let in only those who were permitted. The judges then made their decisions, giving cash prizes.

The celebration was more than ordinarily successful. The weather had much to do with this, of course, but in addition to the good weather it took the co-operation of the South Side merchants, and they worked together in a splendid way. General Hartzell Huston today expressed his appreciation of all the work that had been done and the manner in which the celebration passed off.

The evening closed with an open air dance in the Lincoln-Garfield school grounds in charge of Mont Blau.

Prizes Awarded.

After a job that would have taxed the wisdom of a Solomon, the judges in the South Side Hallowe'en celebration on Tuesday night arrived at their decisions and awarded the prizes to the following:

"NEW VOTE" WILL BE LARGE FACTOR, IT IS CONCEDED

tion figures, ranging as high as 50 per cent in some states.

Estimates of this "new vote", as the politicians describe it, range all the way from five to ten millions. The new voters may conceivably decide the election.

Silence Prevails

"Is it Smith or anti-Smith?" the managers ask themselves. The answering echo is silence.

The Republicans hope, and for the most part believe, that the new vote is for Hoover. In substantiation they point to the straw votes and the polls, all of which point to a Hoover victory. A large part of this new vote, they say, particularly in the West, represents Protestant, dry women who have registered for the opportunity to vote against Smith.

On the other hand, they know that in some sections of the country, particularly in the wet and populous East, the increased registration represents the determination of Catholic women to vote next Tuesday for a candidate of their faith whom they believe has been attacked because of his faith. In Massachusetts, for example, where Catholics represent about half of the population of the state, the registration shows an increase of more than half a million votes. Not even the most optimistic Republican can doubt that Governor Smith is going to get a good break on this new vote.

New Vote Is Factor

Most politicians privately are of the opinion, whatever they may claim for publicity purposes, that this enormous new vote defies any general classification. And it may be the determining factor. In some places they are confident it represents anti-Smith sentiment; in others they are equally confident that it means pro-Smith ballots next Tuesday.

The campaign divides for the final drive along geographical lines.

Governor Smith stays in the East, where he must run strongly if he is to win.

Secretary Hoover goes West to vote—and incidentally to do some campaigning en route in places where the Republicans are nervous, notably in Kentucky, Missouri and Colorado.

Three Speeches Left

Governor Smith has three speeches left. Tonight at Newark, Friday night at Brooklyn and Saturday night he closes his active campaigning with a great mass meeting in Madison Square Garden which promises to make political history. Both candidates will join Monday night in radio talks to the country on the necessity of getting out the vote.

So far as Governor Smith is concerned, "the battle for the Atlantic seaboard" is more than half concluded. He has campaigned from Boston to Baltimore, and he closes the fight in his own New York.

New York is vital to the New York governor. No practical politician of whatever leaning can envision a Smith victory next week without New York. The whole Democratic plan of campaign centers around New York.

Believes Smith Safe

Probably no one realizes this more keenly than Governor Smith himself. His speech in Brooklyn next Friday night is to be devoted to state issues, with only passing reference to national affairs. Candidates for the Presidency do not usually talk state issues on the eve of election. But Governor Smith is going to do so because his chances of victory next Tuesday may hinge upon New York.

With those 45 electoral votes, added to the 114 from the solid South, almost anything is possible. The New York governor is not worrying about the South. Some of his managers may be, but he is not.

"Noisy minorities, vocally powerful, but numerically weak," is the way he has described the anti-Smith disaffection among southern Democrats.

"What has become of the old-fashioned junk dealer?" a reader desires to know. Probably busy with some of the political propaganda which has been sent out.—The Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

Hoover will touch upon the same issues lightly in his St. Louis speech Friday night, which will be devoted chiefly to a further explanation of his farm relief program and his proposal for developing inland waterways.

Tariff Emphasized

The Republican strategists meanwhile swept prohibition aside in their battle for the "Atlantic Seaboard" even though Democratic leaders have sought to make the wet and dry question a paramount question from Massachusetts to Maryland. In the South and West, however, the Republicans raised the issue, pointing to Hoover's defense of the Eighteenth Amendment and his Democratic opponent's proposal for changing the dry amendment.

In the East, still looked upon by Hoover advisers as the great battleground, the tariff was given a greater play than at any previous time during the campaign. Both Charles Evans Hughes, speaking in Worcester, Mass., and Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, speaking from here over the radio, stressed the importance to the country of keeping the Republican party in power to control the tariff. Both credited American prosperity in large part to the action of the tariff in barring out cheap competitive foreign made goods.

Glowing Tribute To Hoover

Kellogg paid a glowing tribute to Hoover.

"He is a natural leader of men," said Kellogg. "His vision takes in the needs of the whole country. He has proved what he can do in organizing and carrying through the greatest humanitarian work in history. Equally he has proved his power in assuring the growth and prosperity of his country. His commercial ideas are sound. There is nothing sectional in his thinking or his acting. In all these reasons, I know that if he is elected, he will make a great president of the whole United States."

Borah Trails Smith

The Republican organization meanwhile kept after Gov. Alfred E. Smith. Senator William Borah, of Idaho, who has followed Smith all over the country, will speak in Baltimore tonight, where the Democratic nominee spoke Monday night. Borah incidentally will close the Republican campaign with a 90-minute radio address Saturday night.

Hoover will visit the Republican national committee headquarters during the day to say goodbye to the workers there. He has completed a draft of his St. Louis speech and his only other duties, until he departs for the West tomorrow evening, will be to interview party leaders and take things easy. The nominee leaves at 5 p. m. tomorrow, enroute through Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Utah and Nevada to his home in California to vote in Tuesday's election. He will make a number of rear-platform speeches across the country and close his personal campaign with a radio talk from his Palo Alto home on the night before election.

ILLINOIS WOMAN CONFESSES BURNS SELF INFLICTED

sibly the right leg will have to amputated.

The Eerie Love Rite, unparalleled in the lore of psychic phenomena, occurred Monday midnight in the police station where the man she claims as her spiritual lover—Charles W. Hitchcock—was employed as night marshal.

Hitchcock is 45 years old and the father of four children. Miss Knaak seemed to know that for the past week Hitchcock has been laid up at his home with a broken leg.

The young woman's story of how she climbed to the mouth of the furnace and held herself there until she apparently dropped unconscious to the floor, tallied with facts in the possession of investigators, her nude body was found near the furnace early yesterday. She was rushed to the Lake Forest hospital.

By degrees, this story was drawn from her.

"I have known Mr. Hitchcock for four years. I studied from him while I was teaching school in Waukegan. A few months ago I got to know him spiritually.

Guided By Voice

"Understand this was no material love affair. Advanced psychology made me understand him. For several weeks I have been hearing a voice say 'Have faith—have faith.' That was his voice.

"Thus we communed, though material distance might place us far apart.

"I had an appointment with him last night. He did not keep it. I had given him all, all my love. When he did not appear, I communed with him in the spirit world before the fire. Again I heard the voice—'have faith.'

"To prove my faith, I thought of the fire. I removed my clothing, which I burned. Then—I burned myself."

"But I survived. I proved my faith and I'll live. Be sure of this: I knew I would survive. This was no effort at suicide."

Dr. A. J. Rissinger, who attended the young woman, said the story seemed incredulous.

Marshal Hitchcock, located at his home in bed, denied that he had ever had any sort of love affair with the girl.

Seek Accomplices.

Lake Forest, Ill., Oct. 31.—Scores of investigators and private detectives sought today for a man, or possibly a woman, who was a companion of Elfrieda Knaak, student, teacher and saleswoman, in the basement of the police station at Lake Bluff in that eerie period when first the clothes, and then the body of the girl was fed to the roaring flames of a furnace there some time yesterday.

In spite of the girl's story that she thrust her legs, her arms and her head into the searing heat of the fire as an act of love, to attain "absolute purity," the investigating authorities refused to believe. Such tortures, they held, could not have been self-inflicted by an human being.

In spite of the concensus of opinion by psychologists and psychiatrists that victims of certain mental disorders are capable, in moments of esctacy and exaltation of becoming insensible to pain, the investigators held to their search.

Building Inspector Candidates Out

It was learned today from a reliable search that candidates for the position as building inspector for the city have made their appearance. It is said that the position is one that will require intensive knowledge of building and will pay well. For this reason candidates now are "button-holing" councilmen.

The building ordinance may not be enforced until a building inspector is named which councilmen indicated Monday will be in 1929.

Death Of Former Secretary Of State Mourned In Capital

Robert Lansing Of Wilson's Cabinet Passes Away At Washington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Washington today mourned the passing of Robert Lansing, secretary of state in the Wilson war cabinet.

Messages of condolence from all over the world came to the Lansing home today from presidents, kings, princes, rulers, potentates and personages with whom the secretary had been associated in his duties during one of the most trying periods in American history.

Death was due to a heart attack. Mr. Lansing, who was 64 years old, had been ill for several days. He lapsed into unconsciousness at noon yesterday and died at 4:20 o'clock.

Mrs. Lansing and his two sisters, Miss Emma S. Lansing and Miss Katherine Ten Eyck Lansing, were at the bedside when the end came.

President Wilson appointed Mr. Lansing as secretary of state in June, 1915, to succeed William Jennings Bryan. He resigned from office on February 13, 1920, at the request of the President. Mr. Wilson, ill in the White House, was nettled because Lansing had called meetings of the cabinet during his illness. Wilson and Lansing also had differences over foreign policy.

Since his retirement from the cabinet Lansing had engaged in law practice here.

President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg were among those who sent messages of condolence.

In the old days "pay dirt" referred to gold-bearing soil, not to the drama.

Pennsylvania Needs More and Wider Paved Highways

The concrete highways of Pennsylvania are famous for their durability and their fine riding qualities. They have done much to increase the prestige and prosperity of this state.

Pennsylvania has 90,000 miles of country highways. Less than one-sixth are surfaced, and there are still many miles on the State Highway System that are not adequately improved. About 5,000 miles are paved with concrete, the ideal paving material for modern traffic.

Automobile registration in Pennsylvania, as elsewhere, shows a tremendous annual increase. There is every reason to believe that the increase will continue for many years.

Highway building must not fall behind automobile production. Existing roads must be widened and poor roads must be paved.

BABY has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is a vegetable product. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. SHOULD STATES SELL LIQUOR?

IN HIS statement on the prohibition question Governor Smith said he would favor changing the Eighteenth amendment to give each state authority to make and sell liquor on the plan used in some of the Canadian provinces. This system, he believes, would remove the profit element from the liquor business and so do away with most of the evils of the old saloon regime.

The plan is not new. It was tried extensively in the south from 1890 to 1910. Altogether 142 counties experimented with it, and one state, South Carolina. But it did not work.

In South Carolina, Ben Tillman, then governor, was a chief advocate of the plan. A board of directors was elected by the general assembly. This board organized dispensaries in cities and towns where the majority of the voters wanted them. The local dispensary obtained its liquor from the state dispensary and sold it in sealed packages. Customers were not allowed to drink on the premises.

Governor Tillman believed the system by removing the element of personal profit from the liquor business would destroy the incentive for encouraging drinking. He argued also that it would abolish treating, insure the distribution of pure liquor, prevent sales on credit, eliminate undesirable saloons, and break up the whisky influence in politics.

The results were so bad that Tillman later withdrew his support and the system was abolished. It did not get rid of bootleggers or of moonshine whisky. In 1902 when there were 104 dispensaries, the records of the United States collector of internal revenue showed more than 400 retail liquor dealers in the state. There was widespread corruption. Many of the dispensary managers sold to the bootleggers. In 1907 when the governor of South Carolina urged the repeal of the law, he said in his message to the legislature, that it afforded "too great opportunity for wrong doing." When the system was closed three years later, the commission in charge reported that "corruption has deplorably permeated the business." Five years later South Carolina adopted prohibition.

Is there any reason to suppose that a system that worked so badly a few years ago would work better today?

Governor Smith's solution is one already well tried out and found to be a failure, this southern history reveals.

INVESTING MONEY WISELY

STATISTICS show that the many millions of dollars invested each year in worthless securities come largely from small investors, persons who are least able to lose their earnings to fraudulent concerns. There is constant need of warning to the uninitiated in investments.

The best advice any person can follow when he has been asked to invest in something of which he has little or no knowledge is to take the proposition to a banker or responsible broker, who will be able to advise promptly as to the probable value of the investment.

The banker may advise that the money be left in the bank rather than put it into something which, the solicitor assures, will yield a large income, but which may be worthless, and the broker may suggest investment in some well-known stock which he is able to sell, but in either case the savings of the individual would have some assurance of safety.

The first inquiry of the person with a little money should be not how much it will yield, on paper, but how safe will the investment be. The person who succumbs to the promise of dividend returns out of keeping with good business principles should ask the court for a guardian—he is not safe to be trusted with money.

The inevitable: A lazy man's alibi.

Much misery is caused by people trying to be happy.

Results count. The causes of most things are unknown.

The marvel of the age is that some of the flappers are almost 30.

The only issue decided in most arguments is who can argue the best.

Just think, if magazines came out on time, this would be three weeks after Christmas.

The Greatest News.

15 Billions to Spare.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Far above the ocean, flying back to Germany, the great Graf Zeppelin is homeward bound. The world admires the efficiency of the German engineers and builders, and congratulates the brilliant air captain, Dr. Eckener.

And the world's small boys will envy one American boy, making the trip as a stowaway.

With the election only one week away Wall street still refuses to be frightened, to shiver or shake, or lower prices. In fact, prices go up.

It must be that high finance does not take seriously the kind of "Socialism" attributed to Gov. Smith.

As a matter of fact everybody knows it is "government" or "state Socialism" that Mr. Hoover had in mind. That was invented by Bismarck and doesn't frighten anybody. On the contrary, it is a good thing as Germany has discovered, after you get used to it.

The most important news in the world has nothing to do with the election, or the intelligence of the modern "flapper" highly prized by educational authorities. The year's important news tells of a giant telescope, with a 200-inch mirror that will reveal to the eyes of men hundreds of millions of new stars and distant "universes."

Appalling to man's feeble intellect is a thin instrument that will bring within reach of our eyes the light of nebulae in a far-off universe, light that has been traveling through space one billion years, at a speed of 186,000 miles a second.

Mr. Raskob, a brilliantly able business man, said, probably out of politeness to please political associates, that our prosperity is not genuine. The General Motors Company, for which he has done good work, seems not to share his opinion, judging by the price of its stock and the size of its earnings.

Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, thinks our prosperity is sound enough and so do others of financial ability.

Mr. Frederick Ecker, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, says the main element in prosperity is the wage earner's "back log."

Workers in this country earn about ONE HUNDRED BILLION dollars a year.

There is a good deal of extravagance and waste, but in spite of that, not more than 85 per cent of the earnings is spent. This means that the people earn each year FIFTEEN BILLIONS more than they spend.

Every year, after paying their living expenses, the people have left over fifteen thousand million dollars, 50 per cent more than the gigantic sum lent to Europe in the war by this country.

This "Social surplus" comes in every year.

That is a substantial "back log" to keep the prosperity fires burning.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in memory of his mother, gives to the University of Chicago $1,000,000 "to promote the religious idealism of students of the university."

Those, unfortunately numerous, that do exist WITHOUT religious idealism, never lifting their eyes from the ground to contemplate and question the heavens and the glory that they declare, are like the men living in Plato's cave, their backs to the light, knowing only shadows on the walls.

Mr. Raskob says that Pennsylvania is CERTAINLY going Democratic.

Republicans say the Solid South is CERTAINLY smashed.

Gov. Smith, now traveling through it, in the last few days of the campaign may change conditions. His last minute trip indicates that his managers are worried about the South.

In the United States 43,00,000 have registered, this total number is greater by 14,000 than the number that voted in the election of 1924.

It is expected that the vote this year will be increased by more than 6,000,000, or almost the total of the Democrat vote of 1924.

Somebody apparently is interested.

Fathers and mothers of young girls should be interested in the fact that, among all crimes, the greatest increase has been in crimes against women.

There can be no doubt that increase in such vicious and dangerous crime is stimulated by the modern women's fashions, skirts short and tight, etc.

They may not be immodest, but they are in some cases DANGEROUS.

It would be interesting to know how French justice figured out that particular punishment.

Sun sets tonight 4:58. Sun rises tomorrow 6:30.

A cure for insanity has been about perfected in Wisconsin. Perhaps it might be tried out first on some of the politicians in that state who are always Republicans, and anything else afterwards. They are all for Smith just now.

The only chop suey restaurant in Pekin, China, has been closed up because there are not enough Americans there to support it. Even Chinamen do not get enough of a depraved taste to crave chop suey.

One of the things that amuses the writer of this column is the fact that some of the alleged Republicans who spent money for the first time in their lives to elect a delegate to the national Republican convention last spring are now rooting for Al Smith. Oh, wham de doodle wham, five or six times!

The wife no longer scolds about a long hair on his lapel. If he was with that kind of woman, he remained pure in heart.

Remember, if you attend the football game in this city next Saturday part of the money you pay to get in will go toward paying for new uniforms for the high school band. That band is always ready to do its share for anything that is going on in New Castle.

Every now and then some threat is sent out by the Pennsylvania Highway Department to the effect that they are going to pinch every autoist who violates the one-light law and every other automobile law. You never hear of anything being done.

If you want to know what will happen to a Republican in Augusta, Ga., go down there and give three cheers for Hoover in front of the Bon Air hotel in that beautiful southern city, where no monument of the northern heroes of the Civil War can be seen. Take your ambulance with you. On the other hand you can give three cheers for Smith in any prominent city in the North and many will join in with you.

HALLOWE'EN
By Franklyn Blanning

This night the ghosts will fly about
And murmur in the air.
They look for little girls who pout
To pull their lovely hair.

The witches? They will come on brooms.
They guide them with their beaks;
They park their sticks by lonely tombs.
Then fill the night with shrieks.

The goblins will just sneak around
To find what they can eat.
In darkest corners they abound
To wait for human meat.

The phantoms? They come out to dance
And flirt with little boys.
They sometimes put them in a trance
To use them for their toys.

The sprites are really not so bad.
They have a funny laugh.
Be careful not to make them mad
Or you'll become a calf.

Children, when you go out tonight,
For safety go in pairs.
Of course, there won't be any fright
If first you say your prayers.

Every time some married woman sees the husband of some neighbor woman helping her with the housework she gets after her own husband and tells him what a fine husband her neighbor has. This does not always help family matters much, and the houseworking husband is not popular with the rest of the husbands in the neighborhood.

Three college boys at Atlanta are in jail charged with murder. They claim they did the killing for a "thrill". They ought to get all the thrills that go with murder, including hanging—which must be some thrill, although no one has ever commented much on it after it was done.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., in a speech in Chicago last Sunday, said religion is not dying out, but changing. He made no further comment.

The wife of Senator Norris of Nebraska, who poses as a Republican, says she will not follow her husband into the Gov. Alfred E. Smith camp. She says she has always been dry. Spoken like a real American lady.

An official of the American Railway Association says that accidents where automobiles crash into the sides of trains are increasing every year. It seems to us that people who cannot see a train should not be allowed to run an automobile.

A Salt Lake man did not want to trust himself on the road with his new automobile, so drove a horse and it scared at the brilliant headlights and now the man is in the hospital with a fractured skull and other serious lacerations. The auto is the safest yet or now.

About forty-three million voters are registered in the United States right now. It is the largest registration ever known in this country. The coming Presidential election is going to be a landslide for the winner.

Wild horse meat is being sold at Portland, Ore., at a little less than half the price of beef. It surely cannot be any worse than rabbit, which is about as near to cat as anything can get.

Dear Hints and Dints: A restaurant right here in New Castle has a sign in bold letters:

Others will charge you $1 for a fine dinner. Coarse is right in most restaurants, isn't it?

People who rush into print nearly always reveal more than they wish to say. They make confession between the lines. They reveal their breeding, or lack of it, for one thing, and they reveal their lack of honor and sense of fair play, if they lack these things.

Old Job had the right idea. He longed for his enemy to write a book.

One accustomed to the good manners and good taste that govern discussion in the public prints will avoid personalities. He may express the opinion that most lawyers are lacking in a nice sense of honor, but he will mention no names.

If some ill-bread lout applies the criticism to himself and rushes into print with an answer, he does not content himself with truthful generalities. He will resort to livery-stable manners and employ explosive adjectives to adorn his opinion that Bill Smith, the writer of the first article, is a horse thief and a liar.

People wonder why their communications are not printed. Usually it is for the same reason that they are not invited to the homes of well-bred people—because they have yet to learn good manners.

In his haste David called all men liars—but he didn't name one man.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ONLY AN AMERICANISM

It has always been a matter of curiosity to the writer as to how the "Apaches" of Paris acquired their sobriquet. I now find that an American gave it to them after a manner.

About a quarter century ago, Buffalo Bill took his Wild West Show to Paris, and the inhabitants of that metropolis saw real Indians for the first time. The Indians were feared because of their fierce appearance. They were called "appash" in the French language.

After Buffalo Bill and his savages had departed, there were numerous holdups and murders in Paris and the ferocity of the crimes was associated in the minds of the Parisians with the American Indians who had recently visited them. Newspaper reporters dubbed the murderers "Apache" and the name has endured to the present time.

The American Indian has always aroused excitement whenever he appeared in Europe. The Intelligence Corps of the A. E. F. used the Indians at the telephones and one disgusted German intelligence Officer said after the war, "I knew and could speak every civilized language of the World, but I was never able to tell what the American Indian said."

An employer, noted for his energy and lack of tolerance for loafing in any form, visited his stock room and found a boy leaning idly against a packing case, whistling cheerily and with nothing at all on his mind. The chief stopped and stared. Such a thing was unheard of in his establishment.

"How much are you getting a week?" he demanded, with characteristic abruptness.

"Twelve dollars."

"Here's your twelve. Now, get out. You're through."

As the boy philosophically pocketed the money and departed, the boss turned to the chief clerk and demanded:

"Since when has that fellow been with us?"

"Never that I know of," was the response. "He just brought over a note for us from Binx & Jinx."

There aren't many silent voters this time, unless you count those in Philadelphia who registered and voted after several years in the cemetery.

Millions Will Vote This Year Through Automatic Machines

Steady Increase In Replacing Of Human Tabulators Promises To Simplify And Speed Up The Nation's Balloting

Of some forty million men and women registered to participate in the national election this year, it is estimated that more than five million will cast their votes through machines, the use of which is becoming more and more generally, especially in the congested urban centers where the polling and tabulating of the vote always has been a problem.

Speaking of the extent of the vogue, the SYRACUSE HERALD points out that the machines will be employed this year by more than 2,000 cities and towns, and predicts a steady popularization, "in line with the use of automatic mechanism in business, manufacturing and agriculture."

Emphasizing the speed which might be achieved in announcing the result, the WASHINGTON STAR says: "If every voting precinct in the United States were equipped with a machine, the result of the election would be known to an absolute certainty within a few hours after the closing of the polls. There would be no changing of figures through recounts and contests. There would be no protracted aftermath of dispute and dissension over the reports of returning board and election officials. That much-disputed factor, the intent of the voter, would be made plain beyond question. And all with an economy of many millions of dollars, a saving that would in a very short time pay for the mechanical equipment necessary."

"The initial cost of voting machines would represent a considerable sum," observes the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE, "but the cost of maintaining a small army of precinct election officials also runs into money, to say nothing of printing bills and other attendant expenses. The modern voting machine gives the electorate the results of its balloting immediately after the polls are closed, not the next day after long hours of tabulating by exhausted officials; its totals are correct and need no revision. It is swift, accurate and economical."

The many years required to establish the popularity of this method of voting are noted by the DETROIT FREE PRESS, which recalls that they were tried out in Rochester, N. Y., about 30 years ago, but that "objections were raised originally to voting machines that they could be 'fixed' and that they were too expensive." That paper, however, refers to the change which has come about with the years, and adds: "Where they have been in operation long enough for the people to judge their value, voting machines seem to have given satisfaction. They speed up the process of voting, and thus reduce not only the number of election districts, but also the amount of time the individual has to spend in recording his vote."

"The growth of machine voting since the last Presidential election has been astonishing," remarks the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, which continues: "Within a few more elections, it is safe to predict that all voting will be done on tabulating machines in which there is an element of accuracy that cannot be had where tired election officials sit half the night thumbing over paper ballots. * * * The argument seems to be all in favor of the use of voting machines, operating on the familiar cash register principle, wherever the people wish to see an election honestly cast and honestly counted."

Supporting the plan to introduce machine voting in its own community after the present election, the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN argues: "A citizen with a four-foot ballot in his hands can scarcely refrain from appreciating the utility of the voting machine. The perplexity of this year's blanket ballot makes the operation of handling the machine levers seem a comparatively simple process, a time saver to the voter as well as an insurance of certainty in counting the vote, since it is registered mechanically as in the ordinary adding machine. Consequently there should be an overwhelming affirmative of the constitutional amendment that permits the installation of voting machines. The impending four-foot ballot is the most convincing argument."

In favor of a similar change in its own city, the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS says: "The machines are needed, and needed now, with a big election approaching. They are in widespread use and thoroughly satisfactory in other communities. * * * The argument of some opponents that they are too mechanically intricate for voters to use intelligently is not entitled to be considered too seriously. In the past few years there have been great improvements toward simplicity of operation, in vote-recording devices."

The BANGOR DAILY COMMERCIAL, nevertheless, feels that the objections are worthy of consideration, and referring to the "desire held by many voters of personally marking their ballots," offers the comment: "Perhaps this is an old-fashioned idea but many people regard the franchise as a personal privilege that would lose somewhat of its importance if they pressed a button rather than marked their ballot. In the big cities, with hundreds of thousands of voters, the machine is a near-necessity. In the smaller places there is no such need of its installation."

"Although the machines have been in use years," according to the INDIANAPOLIS STAR, "The average voter's experience with them is so limited that he has a strange but nevertheless real fear of losing his vote by reason of error in manipulating the levers. Many enter the booth with the predominant thought that their time is extremely limited. When they close the curtain and are confronted with long rows of levers they become panicky." The Star observes that "officials concerned have acted wisely in deciding to install voting machines in designated places where voters may practice operating them."

THE LOST DOG

Teddy is a dog that roams,
Though he has the best of homes;
Though his meals are always ready,
Wanderlust has captured Teddy.
Sniffing here and sniffing there
Teddy wanders everywhere,
Up and down the strangest streets.
Friend to everyone he meets.
Printer, let this ad remain:
"Boston terrier gone again!"

Teddy has a shiny back,
And his coat is almost black.
If dogs have it, all agree
Ted has personality.
But for reasons vague and dim
Wandering appeals to him.
Places strange and people queer,
Sounds denied to human ear,
Scents beyond man's power to know
Seem to call to him to go.

Little Janet day by day
Weeps when Teddy goes astray.
Back he comes without a word
Of the things he's seen or heard.
And the one who brings him back
Takes ten dollars from my pack.
Buddy says that he's a scamp.
Mother says that he's a tramp.
But we search him, high and low,
Little Janet loves him so.

ASTRONOMY AND THEOLOGY

Astronomical studies and conclusions will be found to have had much to do with our theological theories.

Think of the different view of the universe and its regulation taken by people now and those that lived before Corpernicus and Galileo.

When David wrote, "When I consider thy heavens, the sun, moon and stars that thou hast made, what is man that thou are mindful of him?" how much smaller a conception of both the universe and man he had from what we now have!

It must have a humbling effect upon every thinker to reflect upon the vastness of the universe and the smallness of the speck upon which we live. All of these discoveries may but increase our awe and reverence for Him who made the universe, but they alter our notion as to how He did this.

Victor Hugo, in his "Intellectual Autobiography," wrote:

"The locomotive travels fifteen leagues an hour. The hurricane travels sixty leagues an hour. The cannon ball travels seven hundred leagues an hour. The locomotive drags, the hurricane limps, the cannon ball is a tortoise.

"Let us bestride a ray of light. This is to mount 4,000 times faster than the cannon ball, 4,200,000 times swifter than the hurricane, and 17,000,000 times swifter than the locomotive. It makes, as you know, 70,000 leagues a second.

"Start. Light launches you from the Earth to the Sun in eight minutes, from the Sun to Oceanus in four hours, from Oceanus to Centaurus in three years and eight months, from Centaurus to the pole star in twenty-eight years, from the pole star to the Milky Way in 16,800 years, and from the Milky Way to the nebula of Canes Venatici in 5,000,000 years. You have not taken a step. The apartitions of the universe will continue to loom. Beyond the vistble the invisible, beyond the invistble the unknown.

The earth we proudly bestride represents about three thousandths of one per cent of the sun's substance; one of the tiniest specks in the celestial universe.

If we imagine the Sun as a ball nine feet across, our globe in proportion would be a one-inch ball at a distance of 323 yards from the Sun. The Moon would be a speck, the size of a small pea, thirty inches from the Earth.

The nearest fixed star to the earth, even on this minute plan, would be over 40,000 miles away. And some of the stars we see at night would be a hundred million miles away in this scale that makes the Earth a one-inch ball and the Moon a small pea.

Those distant stars might marvel to hear our idea.

"Which says Creation had its birth
For such a tiny world as this;
To hear that One who fashioned all
These solar systems tier on tier,
Expressed in little Adam's fall
The purpose of a million spheres!"

European Beauty Competes Against Prize Of America

Will Decide Grave Question In Eugenics, Says Paris Editor

FOREIGN CONTEST TO BE HELD IN DECEMBER

International Jury Will Decide Most Beautiful Girl Later

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The next competition for the title of "world's most beautiful woman," according to Maurice de Waleffe, must be between one American girl and one girl designated as the beauty-champion of Europe. Maurice de Waleffe is one of the best talented of Parisian editors, now actively engaged on the organization of the coming contest, in Paris, among the most beautiful women of Europe. He is not at all satisfied with the result of the Galveston contest last spring, when a group of European girls went over to compete against the beauties of the forty-eight states. "Such a contest," he tells me, proves nothing. Outside the fact that the jury is all American, and therefore biassed in favor of certain American types, a general world competition does not solve the problem of whether, from the eugenic standpoint, it is better to mix your races or keep them pure.

"This year I have a new idea. I am gathering all the European national beauty-champions in Paris in December. An international jury—one juryman from each country—will pick a 'Miss Europe' who will not only be the most beautiful girl in Europe, but will be the representative of a single race. It may be Italian, Dutch, French, Serbian, or what-not, but it will be a case of ideal beauty emerging from unmixed blood.

"Meanwhile the United States will be choosing a champion. 'Miss America' will be the descendant, not of one race, but of a mixture of all the races.

"I will send 'Miss Europe' to New York—or to Galveston if necessary—and let her stand beside 'Miss America.' And, with the cooperation of the American organizers, we shall have an international jury decide which of the two distinct types is the more beautiful. And when we get the answer we shall know something about eugenics that we did not know before."

Walter Hagen may be an ace among golfers, but he's only a monthly paymaster to pretty Mrs. Edna Hagen—and has been since November last. She obtained default judgment for $1,000 in White Plains court against "the Haig" for failure to pay her $500 a month under a separation agreement. The couple are shown in above picture as they appeared last Autumn before Hagen sailed for the English competitions.

World Abandon Sharpsville R. R.

Petition Is Presented In Federal Court At Pittsburgh

MASTER NAMED TO LOOK INTO MATTER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31.—After hearing a petition in federal court here today to abandon the Sharpsville railroad in Mercer county, Judge R. M. Gibson appointed T. A. Sampson as master in the case.

Sampson is to take account of all liens and debts outstanding against the railroad and to render a report by next December 3.

The petition for abandonment was presented for G. M. McIlvain, who as receiver for the concern, has managed the road's business since 1897. McIlvain declared the Sharpsville railroad has not been out of debt since receivership proceedings were instituted by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in 1897.

McIlvain's petition declared the Sharpsville company, which has been used as a switching road by industrial concerns in the Sharon district, no longer has enough business to warrant continuation. He asked permission to sell the company's property.

The petition declared the company has debts of approximately $75,000, including two notes held by the Baltimore & Ohio since 1891. One of these notes is for $62,000.

The Erie railroad holds a verdict against the Sharpsville road of $15,391.50 and the New York Central holds a verdict of $3,567 in claim suits settled in federal court, according to the petition.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

IT TAKES NERVE

Captain Street and Captain Stevens, two flying men, have been climbing almost eight miles into the skies. Up there, at the highest, it was 76 degrees below zero. The throttle on the plane froze. Finally they got it to working. Then they ran out of gas and were forced to land in a field. While at great heights they took pictures, the first ever taken from such an altitude. They carried 40 pounds of liquified air, otherwise they could not have lived very long.

Not many of us would care to do that sort of thing even if we knew how. It takes physical courage of a high order. Initiative and adventure, worked out in various lines, represent leadership. It would be a pretty sad and weary procession that would be stumbling along the road if it were not for those who take a chance, who learn, who transmit what they learn and who lead.

RADIO'S RISE

The rise of radio from an interesting experiment to a giant industry in eight years is largely a triumph of newspaper publicity. G. Clayton Irwin, general manager of the Chicago Radio Show, tells his hearers that "while the radio industry was in the process of formation, growth and transition, the radio men learned to depend upon advertising as their chief ally in making America radio conscious. Those who did not do so are among the skeletons which lie unnamed along the highway of radio progress.

"It is not too much to say that in this fast-stepping industry a manufacturer must advertise to live, let alone make progress. I think that newspaper advertising is the backbone of radio advertising. By that I mean specifically that if an executive had to choose but a single medium to help his sales that medium should be the newspaper."

FLYING ALONG

Three or four years ago five million dollars would have bought the entire commercial aviation industry of the United States. Today it would take a hundred million dollars to do that. Two years and a half ago mail planes carried 19,000 pounds of mail a month. This last August they carried 419,000. In 1925 seven hundred and eleven planes were built in the United States. This year the number will be between 6,000 and 8,000. There are now in the neighborhood of 9,000 planes owned by civilians and commercial companies in this country.

What we shall have to be thinking of is improving ground transportation to such a degree that the time gained by air travel won't all be lost on arrival. The other day McCracken, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, flew from Cleveland to Chicago in 175 minutes—but it took him 75 minutes to get from the Chicago airport to his hotel.

CHEST WORKERS BOOST FUND TO NEARLY $50,000

Home team was again the high scorer of the day turning in $341.00. The solicitors left the luncheon today with renewed enthusiasm, determined that New Castle shall live up to its reputation of always putting drives of this sort over.

To Continue Thursday.

Immediately after the dinner, Mr. Pearis announced that the drive would be continued all day Thursday so that the business section of the city, which was assigned to the workers at noon today, could be covered and reports made.

"In this drive, every citizen of New Castle must be reached," declared Mr. Pearis. "The downtown section has been divided into eight districts which will be covered thoroughly this afternoon and Thursday morning.

"People who refuse to give to the chest do not appreciate their duty to the city," Mr. Pearis continued. "The responsibility for giving rests on the shoulders of each and every member of the community.

"To Hell With Community Chest."

"From one of the men who makes his living in this community—and he has prospered—one of the Community Chest drive workers got the following reply when he was asked to donate to the chest: 'To hell with the Community Chest!'

"What I have to say about such a man is unprintable. I have the utmost contempt for a man who would make a statement like that. People are practically giving their life for the furtherance of the institutions in the chest in existence to help the less fortunate. Forty-five millions of men of the type I have just mentioned will not make a third class city out of any town. Yet the above quoted man said to the worker that the Community Chest was trying to make a village out of a third class city. Such men as these are a distinct liability to any community.

"By What Right?"

"What right has any man to say 'To hell with 65 orphans like the ones at the Margaret L. Henry home.' What right has he to say 'To hell with these old ladies who are residents of the Almira Home?' And what right has he to say 'To hell with the young manhood and womanhood being taken care of by institutions like the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.?'

"This should cause every worker to rise up in indignation. It should cause every loyal citizen of New Castle to rise up in righteous wrath and show the community at large that the honest, hard working, right thinking people can put the thing across without the aid of one I would brand a mucker. He is not fit for the decent people of New Castle to associate with and yet, when the chest drive is over, when the smoke of battle has died down, he will be found among the people of New Castle recognized just as he was before.

"Yes, every member of the community should rise up in righteous indignation, they should come to the defense of the community, the place where they live, and the place to which they owe more than they can ever repay."

The average life of telephone poles has been greatly reduced since the advent of the automobile and it is now not much greater than the average life of pedestrians.—The Albany Evening News.

It isn't of record that any man ever lost a big job by failing to appreciate his own importance.

Another general aid to longevity is the fact that the good die young.

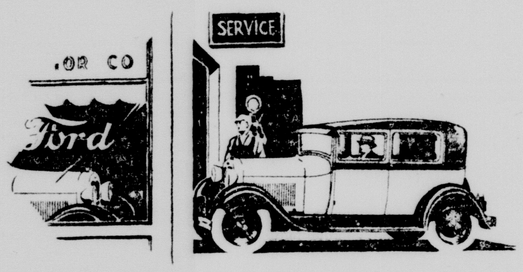
Every purchaser of a new Ford is entitled to Free Inspection Service for the first 1500 miles



THE modern automobile is a finely built piece of machinery and it will stand a lot of abuse. Considering the work it does, it gives surprisingly little trouble. But there isn't a car made that will not run better and longer if given proper care.

The first few hundred miles are especially important because that is when the mechanism of your car is being broken in. Proper attention during this period will lengthen its life and prevent unnecessary trouble later on.

We are particularly interested in this matter because we believe it is our duty not only to make a good automobile, but to help the owner get the greatest possible use over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

With this in view, the entire Ford dealer organization has been specially trained and equipped to service the new Model A car.

Furthermore, we have instructed every Ford dealer to give the following Free Inspection at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles:

Check battery
Check generator charging rate
Check distributor adjustment
Check carburetor adjustment
Check lights
Check brakes
Check shock absorber adjustment
Check tire inflation
Check steering gear
Change engine oil
Lubricate chassis

No charge is made for labor or materials incidental to this service, except, of course, where repairs are necessary through accident, misuse or neglect. The only charge is for new oil.

See your Ford dealer, therefore, and get this Free Inspection of your new car at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. Find out, too, how little it will cost to have your car given a thorough going-over at regular periods thereafter.

A periodic checking-up, together with oiling and greasing every 500 miles, will add months and years to the life of your car and mean more economical and pleasurable motoring every mile you drive.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually means excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

Gruesome Discovery Of Bullet-Riddled Body Is Made By Farmer

BODY IS FOUND NEAR HATBORO, PA.

(International News Service)

HATBORO, Pa., Oct. 31.—The bullet-riddled body of a woman about 30 years of age was found at Horsham, near here, today. The body was discovered partly hidden under a heap of leaves in the edge of his cornfield by Scott Harlan, a farmer.

Investigation of the mysterious murder disclosed the woman had been dead about five hours. Four bullet wounds, one in the right cheek, two in the breast and one in the left wrist, were found upon examination of the body. The victim was brought to the morgue here.

Harlan as he entered the field to husk corn saw a woman's coat hanging on a post. The discovery led to the finding of the body hidden under the pile of leaves. The body was clad in a black and white gingham dress, cheap shoes and white silk stockings completed the dress. There were no marks of identification. A gold wedding band was found on the left hand but the ring bore no initials.

The woman's hands were battered as if she had put up a terrific battle before she was slain. Police believe the murder was committed at a distant spot and the body taken to the cornfield in an attempt to hide it.

YOUR BROADWAY AND MINE

By WALTER WINCHELL

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—His income is just so-so, but when he accumulated $1,000 he took the squaw to Saratoga during the racing season and, with great luck, won $7,500.

"Let's go to Europe," he suggested to his wife, "and really enjoy this easy money."

In Biarritz, at the gaming tables, he won $12,000! It was the second time he had wagered on anything in his career.

LOGIC

Speaking of gamblers, a local who recently dropped nearly half a million at the dice tables told his creditors that they would be paid off in time. There is no fear that he will duck his obligations, for he is known to be a good loser.

"They can't kidnap him, anyway," remarked one of the winners, "because there is nobody with more than he to pay his debts, and if they kill him—then what?"

THE PUBLIC BE FOOLED

Among other stunts employed by press agents was the one which made Los Angeles "Eddie Peabody conscious." Before going from New York to Los Angeles for his engagement there, Peabody was posted in front of the great crowds which welcomed Gertrude Ederle to Manhattan after her channel swim. He was "shot" by cameras as he bowed, smiled and waved to the cheerers, who were cheering Miss Ederle.

The week before Peabody arrived on the west coast to fulfill engagements, however, the theaters out there ran a film of the Ederle admirers, with the fake shot of Peabody bowing. The sub-title said: "New York Welcomes Eddie Peabody!"

ALSO A LITTLE CRUST

Take it from Shnock, the girls complain that nowadays, when they are taken to dinner, it is limited to boloney, raspberries and apple sauce.

BY WAY OF REPORT

Among other problems yet unsolved by Charles B. Dillingham, the sponsor of "Three Cheers" (in which Will Rogers is pinch hitting for Fred Stone), is the matter of overtime wages. The unions demand $2 an hour for each member of the stage and orchestra crews when a show runs its asbestos down tardily. Even if the show is one minute late the overtime must be settled in full. Mr. Dillingham and his associates perspired during the first week to get the curtain down on time. Every specialty was pruned and encores were banned, but the star's monologuing got louder, longer and funnier with every performance, which still rings down late!

ADD SIMILES

Frank J. Wilstach will include the following similes in his next book, we hope. Robert Reud's "A stare as vacant as Fifth avenue on a Sabbath night" . . . From the Toronto Star: "As luxurious as a new gasoline station" . . . "As brief as the fame of a transatlantic flight" . . . "As rosy as a mining prospectus" . . . "As vague as a gentleman's agreement."

ALWAYS BELITTLIN'

Mr. Hearst it seems has finally given up, and raided another local rag to hire a great critic for one of his papers, the name of which we have promised not to reveal.

Burton Davis, upon hearing the report, observed: "Then he didn't get Coolidge, after all?"

INCIDENTALLY

We recently spanked the wrist of a contributor named Julius Klein for submitting a funny crack which he thefted from Judge. So we feel that we can prod Judge for recently reprinting on its Cheer Leader page the gag headed "In Chicago—Here today—and gun tomorrow," signed by R. Wheldon, Harvard '29, which has appeared in several alleged humor weeklies, but which first ran in Life at least two dozen Fridays ago.

Air Mail Saving For Credit Houses

Fast Service Saves Much Money For Better Business Bureaus

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. — Large sums are saved annually to business houses in all parts of the country through improved credit methods made possible by air mail, the American Air Transport Association's questionaire to credit departments shows.

Recently a man reported to a Chicago firm that he had a line of credit in Dallas, Texas. That was at four o'clock Monday afternoon. The credit department asked him to call the next morning. A wire was sent that evening and an air mail letter leaving Dallas Monday evening was on the credit man's desk Tuesday morning and contained information which resulted in the case being referred to a Better Business Bureau. The applicant had not realized that air mail is flown 1,000 miles at night between the close and opening of the business day.

Banks report air mail gives them an advantage in the faster exchange of credit information, particularly regarding firms whose full status must be known before business can be conducted with them.

A fish hawk collided with an airplane. Even the air isn't safe for pedestrians these days—Worcester Evening Gazette.

The only relief from the weather is pretending you like it.

Mail Planes To Fly Over 7,000,000 Miles

Will Cover Distance Yet This Year; Now Covers 37 States

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Planes flying United States mail this year will fly more than half as much as the total mileage flown by mail, express and passenger planes in Europe, show figures released by the American Air Transport Association.

The total mileage to be flown by the mail planes of this country this year will be approximately 7,600,000. The total mileage flown by all Europ an countries last year was 14,129,000. The Association's figures show that Germany led all European countries in mileage flown last year with nearly 6,000,000 miles, France 3,755,000, while planes of Great Britain, Italy, Netherlands, Poland flew less than one million but more than one-half million miles. Planes of Switzerland, Sweden, Czecho-Slovakia flew between one-half and one-fourth of a million miles. The American mail plane flights of 7,600,000 miles this year do not include a substantial mileage flown by passenger craft operated by the mail carriers.

The Association's figures shew that the mail planes during 1929 will fly more than 10,000,000 miles, exclusive of strictly passenger plane service supplementing the mileage of the mail carriers.

CARLSRUHE, Oct. 31.—Four brothers named Wolf have started out on a long trip with an exact reproduction of the famous Heidelberg tun, except as to size.

The tun is but a third as large as the great original, but it is a true copy, even including the clock with the jack-in-the-box foxtail and the statue of the dwarf Perkeo.

The tun contains four beds. The globetrotters plan to visit Holland, France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Rumania, England, and North and South America.

It works out all right. The fat-jowled millionaire type doesn't look good in a derby, anyway.

Divine Healing Is Tabernacle Theme

Rev. C. H. Erickson Preaches Sermon On Divine Healing Tuesday Night

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS SERVICES

Despite the cold weather and civic attractions of Tuesday evening, some 1,500 persons attended the healing services which took place at Everybody's tabernacle located at the corner of Mill and Friendship streets. Rev. C. H. Erickson, evangelist, conducted the services.

A full half hour of the evening's program consisted of group singing by the audience, special numbers and solos by the colored quintet and a vocal solo by Mrs. C. H. Erickson. Instrumental music was also played by the quintet.

As it was the special night for the healing sermon and healing prayer a number came forward at the close of the services for special healing prayer and in response to the altar call which was given near the close of the preaching services.

The sermon, preached by Rev. Erickson, for the evening was a special healing theme, the text of which was chosen from Galatians, 3:13, wherein it reads, "but He has redeemed me from the curse of the law."

"Even then," stated Rev. Erickson, "sickness was recognized as a curse and not a blessing and was treated as such. Today there are many who believe sickness to be a blessing yet despite their belief along this line they attempt to rid themselves of the supposed 'blessing.' God's word teaches differently."

Rev. Erickson stated that "sickness was the direct resultant of sin, and that when sin was forsaken and forgiven by God, the sickness will disappear. It is faith in God," stated the evangelist. "If we have faith and confess our sons to God, they are forgiven and the sickness as the result of our sins is taken away. Thus we have what we call today 'Divine Healing' and in which we believe to be true."

"Disease is not a blessing. It is a curse and a curse of the worst kind. Only until we find out what the sin is can we be cured from sickness and that means that we must come close to God to ascertain these things.

"Healing," stated the evangelist, "is a promise of God to us in His word and thus our belief in it. God has promised it to us on the confession and admittance of our guilt and not one of God's promises have not been fulfilled.

"Christ called sickness the curse of the devil. God does not cause sickness. He does permit the devil to cause sickness so that we may be an example to others and that may test our faith in Him," stated Rev. Erickson.

"When we confess, Christ bears the penalty of our sins. It is such that when we confess our sins, they are wiped away as though they had not happened. This is the greatness of God's love and what He can and will do for those who will believe."

There are some who do not know what God has for them, stated Rev. Erickson, "just as there are people who, do not know their wealth. But it is there just the same and an acquaintance is all that is necessary.

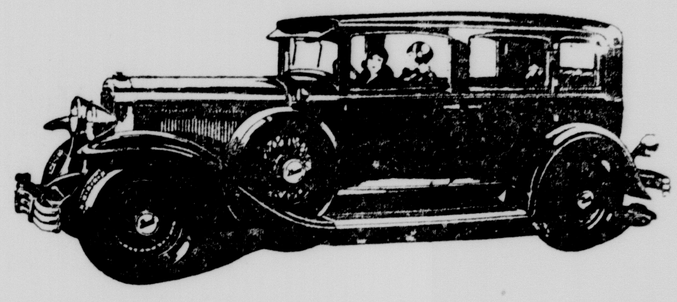
Going Up!

Nightly, now, her smile is winning new hearts all over America. She is lovely Corrine Burton, whose New York home is the New Weston Hotel. Her march to fame includes a season each in "The Music Box" and "The Scandals;" and now, under Chas. Bowers' direction, she's going up in the movies!

"I don't believe in overlooking any point which may help make your presence pleasing," says Miss Burton. "Recently, I learned the method of caring for the hair, which is all the rage among New York girls, now. It's so easy. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you arrange your hair. It makes my hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It has gotten rid of my dandruff. It keeps my scalp and hair so clean and comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I used to. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance that friends comment on it."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it new lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully fragranced. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. Lovely, gleaming hair and a healthy scalp for a few cents.

The new Buick is the new Style



Men and women on every street--in every city and town--are pronouncing the new BUICK, with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher, the most beautiful automobile of the day

Never before in the history of motor car manufacture have the motorists of America welcomed any new automobile as they are welcoming the Silver Anniversary Buick with new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher!

Sweeping into the market at a time when motor car lines were practically standardized—when imitation was destroying individuality—these epic Buick creations introduced an entirely new mode—

A mode of body-symmetry—of size and magnificence—of soft contours instead of straight lines—of embossed side and hood panels involving the most costly steel paneling work employed on any car in the world!

And as the weeks have passed—and the full significance of Buick's achievement has become apparent to the public—enthusiasm for this car has swelled and grown to unprecedented proportions!

Buick sales records have been broken! Production schedules have been increased again and again! The great Buick plants are working to the limit of their capacity to supply the demand.

Mated Couples Express Views For Bachelors

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The man able to earn $45 a week, maintain a give-and-take attitude under the most trying circumstances and hold out for a two-by-four of his own against the most insistent invitations of in-laws that he and his bride make their home with them had best run—not walk—to the marriage license bureau.

For it is 90 to 1 that the man and his girl friend are just the type that will live happily ever after, according to the Rev. Clinton C. Cox, pastor of the Drexel Park Presbyterian church. Cox based his opinion on answers to questions asked 150 couples he married.

There were 18 questions contained in the questionnaire.

The questions and the accompanying answers that recurred most frequently follow:

1. What was your greatest mistake in courtship? Extravagance.
2. Do you favor a long engagement? A long courtship and a short engagement.
3. Is married life all you expected it to be? Yes, and then some.
4. Are the in-laws still a great problem? Emphatically yes.
5. What to you causes the most trouble at home? Lack of fair play and the tendency of one to dominate the other.
6. What is the best method of settling misunderstandings? Discuss your misunderstandings immediately, always remembering there are two sides to every question.
7. What is the supreme joy of married life? Babies.
8. What is the least salary one should marry on? Forty-five dollars a week.
9. Should one marry secretly or against parents' wishes? Only when the objections of parents to the marriage are unreasonable.
10. Can you live with his or her people and be happy? No.
11. Do you have Bible reading or prayer in your home? No. Attend church? Regularly.
12. Is the girl with a home as happy as the single girl with a position? Far happier.
13. Is the single man really happier than the married man? Great as are the responsibilities of the married man, he is invariably the happier.
14. What influence has the working wife upon the home? Unless the husband is ill or unable to find work, no married woman should go to work; it can only have an unhappy effect on the home.
15. What is your attitude toward mixed marriages? Mixed marriages should be avoided.
16. Does owning a home increase happiness? Yes, if the debt incurred is not too great.
17. Do you save systematically? The answers to this question were "yes" and "no", just about fifty-fifty.
18. Your own suggestion, word of advice to others? "Don't marry the first fellow that comes along." "Don't gossip." "Avoid too friendly relations with other married couples," and "be utterly frank with your mate and discreetly secretive with your friends and neighbors" were some of the interesting answers to the last question.

Opinions Prepared By Judge Henninger In His Last Illness

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 31.—Discussion of the death of Judge John R. Henninger by the attorneys of the Butler County Bar association brought to light the fact that in all but one civil action which was in the hands of the court action had been taken. Judge Henninger was a tireless worker and prepared and handed down opinions on the various cases presented before him with a dispatch that was not equaled in any other county in the commonwealth.

There are several opinions that were prepared and signed by Judge Henninger before his death that have as yet not been filed. They are in the hands of Court Stenographer E. R. Riddle. Judge Henninger had requested that he opinions be held for a time and he died before they were filed.

This will leave little unfinished business to come before the new judge. The criminal courts are also not as congested as would have been expected as Judge Henninger by holding sentence court each Saturday kept the records as clear as it was possible to do.

Precious blue white diamonds that are worth hundreds and even thousands of dollars as well as inexpensive semi-precious novelty jewelry is included. We cannot emphasize too greatly the NEWNESS of Gerson's stock. In jewelry, like everything else these days, styles do change. And if its new Gerson has it. You will find more new models of famous Bulova wrist watches at Gerson's than in any other two stores. You will find every pattern of 1847 Rodgers Silverware, even the new Gold Sets here too. And so on, we could recount many many other similar examples.

Small deposit holds any article until Christmas

During November under this plan you will receive an opportunity to do your Christmas shopping at leisure and you may get your purchase FREE. A small deposit will hold any article until Christmas.

Your credit is good

Your credit is good. You need make only a small down payment (and we will refund that if its your lucky day). Come in see how generous Gerson's terms really are. See how free from red tape our credit system is. No references, etc. Simply make a small payment—say "Charge It"—and tell us how you would like your payments arranged.

The Feasibility of this Idea—How it can be done

In November with Sundays and Thanksgiving excluded—there are twenty-five shopping days. This means that 4% of the months business is done each day. In other words at the end of the month, November's business volume will have been effected in a proportion equivalent to a 4% discount. Such a reduction is possible in good retailing. You probably remember stores who offer 20% or more off for a month. Of course, the element of chance enters into this—more than the ordinary number of purchases may have been made but Mr. Gerson like yourself is taking a chance. Then again, we will feature this event next year and the law of averages works out. If its high in 1928 it will probably be low in 1929.

Any day in November from and including the First to the Thirtieth may be the lucky day (Sundays and Thanksgiving excluded). The date together with the winners will be announced in our windows December 3, 1928. Each purchaser should retain his or her receipt. We suggest this to avoid any misunderstanding. However, it will not be necessary for you to present your receipt our records will show the date of all purchases.

One Coat Does Service For Nearly Seven Years For Henry Home Girls

Children of the Margaret L. Henry home for children really do appreciate the things which the kind-hearted people of New Castle give them. And for those who have any doubt concerning this it would be well for them to scan the following lines relative to a coat which was presented to the home more than six years ago.

It happened that a local family had no further use for a girl's coat, so it was decided to send the useful garment to the Margaret Henry home. Authorities there gladly accepted it and remodeled the sleeves somewhat for a certain girl. She was highly pleased when she got the gift, and then wore it continuously for almost two years.

When the first girl grew too large for it, Miss Henry decided that it should go to one of the smaller girls there. And it did. With hardly no improvement on the garment at all, the smaller girl wore it for a period of a year, at the end of which it became too tight and was not of use to her. Nevertheless, there was still another girl in the institution, and Miss Henry remembers them all. So she was picked out to wear the coat, for it was in fine shape yet. The other girls had only outgrown it.

It was just about a year ago when the smaller girl gladly took possession of the wearable. For its condition was far from bad and the fit was fine. Today, the same little girl wears the coat and the same little girl still prides in the fact that it's hers. In another year the garment will be seven years old. Whether or not it can be worn then is not well to say now. If it is, it is possible that another smaller girl will be given it.

But the above story just tells of how the coats at the Margaret Henry home are taken care of and how the children there appreciate the donations. The authorities there state that the coats are fixed up at the home and remodeled for use. At the present time a number of suitable garments are on hand and will be washed, cleaned and dry cleaned for wearing. Nevertheless, girls' and boys' coats are always welcome as gifts and if any person has a coat or two that will no longer render service to them, the Margaret Henry home offers one of the best places in New Castle to send it.

HOW SACRED IBIS GOT HIS NAME

"Red-Feathers was right. For some reason the brothers did not understand they were the subject of the Two-Legs' chant.

"Waving their palm branches and pointing to the birds now circling curiously above their uplifted heads, the people sang a song of praise to the winged messengers—the heralds whom the great God of the River had sent to tell them of the rising of the waters.

Because they had seen White-Coat first he should be called the Sacred Ibis and they would worship him and their children and their children's children should do honor to his name forever.

"His brother they would call the Scarlet Ibis because of the glowing color of his coat. Now the people could go to their homes happy. They need not worry for another year. There would be plenty to eat in the land of Egypt. Surely there was much to be thankful for.

When the Two-Legs had finished their thanksgiving the joyous crowd started back to their homes, laughing and dancing as they went, but the birds did not watch them for long. White-Coat had caught sight of something that made him give a shrill scream of surprise.

"'They were right. They were right. The waters are rising!' screeched he. 'Look closely, Red-Feathers, and you will see that they are slowly but surely creeping up the banks. If this keep up at this rate before long the river will have overflowed its banks. There will be water everywhere and then what a feast we shall have.

"'Do you know, brother, I rather like the name the Two-Legs gave me. Sacred Ibis! Sounds quite distinguished, don't you think? So I am to be worshipped, am I? Fine. I give these people credit for a lot of sense. I always knew that I was a a wonderful bird, but I must say I never expected anything like this.'

"'Humph! I hope you will not burst with pride over being called sacred,' remarked Red-Feathers, with a chuckle. 'You can be worshipped all you want to. What good does that do you? I had far rather people knew me for my beauty. I hope you heard them admiring my coat, brother.'

"The two birds were so pleased with their new names that they could think of nothing else. But they nearly came to blows arguing about whose was the prettiest. And all the time the water was rising higher and higher."

COKE

Coal in its most efficient form

IF you have never burned coke you can't realize how much better and cleaner it is than coal. Once you have burned coke you will never return to coal.

Coke will give you a greater degree of heating comfort than can possibly be obtained with coal. It burns slowly with a hot, uniform bed of fire which is not continually flaring up and dying down. It requires less "furnace tending"—less stoking, less shaking down, less draft adjustment. It is a cleaner fuel because the smoke and soot-forming elements and other volatile matter have been removed.

For better warmth with a new degree of cleanliness burn coke—Youngstown Domestic Coke.

PREPARE TO VOTE EARLY AND SPEEDILY

As the election comes closer, and it will occur next week, it becomes more and more apparent that in order to allow everybody to vote who is registered, it will be absolutely necessary to vote early wherever possible, and to waste little time in the polling booth.

There are many people who can get their vote cast early in the day. Among these would be housewives, office men and women, and those people who do not have to start work before eight o'clock. The polls open at seven o'clock and the eight and nine o'clock workers could easily get their vote in on the way to work.

Housewives Before Three.

It may be inconvenient for housewives to cast their votes this early, but at least they can get it cast before three o'clock. This will insure the mill workers an opportunity to vote with much of the usual election crowd avoided.

The rush will probably come between 4:30 and 7 o'clock.

In many precincts there will be a steady stream during these hours and no one should be denied the opportunity of voting. However, in order to give the other fellow a chance, the voter should spend as little time as possible in the booth.

It is imperative that voters vote as early and as speedily as possible. Otherwise there will be hundreds denied the privilege.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Police Chief Again Warns Merchants On Cashing Checks

Several Phoney Checks Are Passed On Merchants In Past Few Days

Chief C. C. Horner today issued another warning to merchants of the city not to cash checks for people whom they do not know, and especially where the face of the check is for more than the amount of the purchase.

Within the last two days three local business concerns have returned checks to the police department, in two cases being out a small amount of cash given as change when a purchase was made with the checks.

In two instances the man casning the checks posed as a married man seeking a washing machine. His gain was something like $15.

These checks were written on a local bank to J. E. Shaffer and signed John White. One of the checks given to the Livingston Sweeper company was for ..162.50. This was 7:50 more than the value of the washing machine purchased and he was given the $7.50 in cash. At the Chamberlain & Cline company the check was for $182.60, just $7.60 more than the price of the washing machine picked out.

At neither place did he give a name but he did mention 931 Maryland avenue as if that was his residence. He mentioned that his wife was too tired and that he would make the purchase, giving a check in each instance for just a little more than the purchase price and receiving a cash return.

He attempted the same proposition at the Haney Furniture company shore but was unsucessful as they accepted a check only for the amount due on furniture selected. The result was that he secured no change at that place.

The man passing the checks is described as being slender, probably 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall; dark complexioned, dark overcoat, dark soft hat. He was apparently 40 to 45 years of age and clean shaven.

Good Health Helps To Aid Prosperity

Pennsylvania Figures Point To This Conclusion, Is Belief

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—The present prosperity in the United States can in some measure be traced directly to the control which has been exercised over disease, and which permits labor to work without interruption and with less fear of shortened life, according to a statement made today by Dr. Emlyn Jones, chief of the bureau of vital statistics.

"A revolution has occurred within the past 25 years, affecting the hazards to life and death," said Dr. Jones. "The discoveries of modern medicine have brought contagious diseases under control. The statistics in Pennsylvania, as well as in all other states included in the registration area, conclusively prove this fact. The result is a new order of vigor, in which people are able to live and work more freely, unhampered by the fear of an untimely end. Life is safer and easier, and, as a result, more productive."

CENTENARIAN ADMITS HE LIKES GIRLS, BUT HE'S STILL BACHELOR

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—Leopold Cahn, who celebrated his 100th birthday here recently, refuses to permit his age to warp his viewpoints.

The centenarian is alert of mind, quite active for his years and keeps abreast of modern times by reading newspapers and conversing with the younger generation, he said.

"It depends on who wears 'em," Cahn said when asked to state his choice—short skirts or hoopskirts.

"No, I don't like automobiles. They are too bumpy. But I would like to ride in an airplane.

"Girls? I like them. I never married any of them. I always just liked 'em," said Cahn, adding that he thought bobbed hair was "magnifique."

Butler Murder Case Is Given To Grand Jury

Garage Man Held On Manslaughter Charge For Wife's Death

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 31.—The decision of the coroner's jury in the holding of Earl Jones, 38, proprietor of the West End garage, here, for the December grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, Nellie A. Jones, was to be certified by Coroner William F. Pohl to District Attorney Charles d Miller today.

Jones was arrested eight days ago, following the burning of an abandoned house on the Patterson farm, six miles southeast of Butler, three miles from the Pittsburgh-Butler highway, in which bones, said to be human, and a wrist watch and three diamond rings, identified by relatives as the property of Mrs. Jones, were discovered. At the inquest, held late yesterday, the articles found, and an alleged confession by Jones were exhibited to the jury.

The case will probably rest now until action of the grand jury. This jury will be instructed by Judge James M. Galbreath, who is expected to qualify for his duties next Friday, following his appointment by Governor John S. Fisher to succeed the late Judge John R. Henninger.

Plentiful Supply Of Turkeys Forecast

Crop Of Birds Is About Four Per Cent Greater Than Last Year

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31—The 1928 turkey crop in the leading producing states is about 4 per cent larger than the 1927 crop, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The greatest increase this year is in the Western states, particularly Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Utah and Idaho. This is attributed in part to the development of commercial hatching and the sale of day-old poults.

The North-Central states also show an increase in production while the Southern states have a noticeable reduction.

The Pennsylvania crop is reported as 98 per cent of the 1927 production, with the birds in fair to good condition.

"Weather conditions on the whole were more favorable to turkey production this year than last in all areas," the report states, "except the South, although excessive rains and cool weather in June caused considerable losses in many sections. With feed supplies plentiful and relatively cheap, the conditions of the crop by the end of November should be average or better, if the weather continues favorable."

Picking Presidents

1920: A Plurality Of Seven Millions

By CHARLES L. MULLIGAN

Written for Central Press and New Castle News

WARREN G. HARDING

Warren G. Harding, a comparative newcomer in national politics, scarcely known to the country, eight years ago astonished the world by amassing a plurality in the popular vote of more than seven millions. It is most commonly attributed to the national reaction against the Wilson war-time and peace treaty policies. Yet Wilson was an invalid, taking no part in the campaign, and actually repudiating a harmless endorsement of the Democratic nominee delivered in person by Secretary Tumulty.

In the Republican convention at Chicago, Harding was nominated on the tenth ballot, after a sharp contest between the supporters of Leonard Wood and of Frank O. Lowden. The selection of Harding as a dark horse was logical in a campaign of assault on the League of Nations issue, because, next to Senator Lodge, Harding was the ranking Republican member of the senate committee on foreign relations, which had warned the president the nation would not accept the league.

Calvin Coolidge, destined to be another accidental president, was nominated for vice president on the first ballot. The leaders had favored Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, but the eastern delegates broke away.

It was an all-Ohio canvass, as the 1904 campaign had been all-New York. The Democrats, meeting for the first time at San Francisco, nominated James Middleton Cox, who, like Harding, was a newspaper publisher. It took 44 ballots to reach a decision, but his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, was named on the first ballot after most of the delegates had left for home.

The Democratic platform declared unequivocally for the League of Nations covenant. It was an extraordinarily unpopular issue. Harding, conducting a "front porch campaign" in the McKinley manner, urged a "return to normalcy." The people puzzled over the antique phraseology, but liked the sentiment. The electoral vote:

Warren G. Harding, Ohio, and Calvin Coolidge, Massachusetts, Republican, 404 votes; James M. Cox, Ohio, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York, Democrats, 127.

The popular vote: Harding, 16,152,200; Cox, 9,147,353; Debs, (Socialist), 919,799; Watkins, (Prohibition), 189,408; Christensen, (Farmer-Labor), 265,411. Debs at the time was serving a term in Atlanta Federal prison.

(This is the thirty-fourth of a series of 35 digests of presidential campaigns. The thirty-fifth, and last, will be: "1924: Prize Is Dropped in Coolidge's Lap.")

Estimate Illness Costs $18,000,000 In Schools; Much Of It Preventable

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—Eighteen million dollars is the annual loss attributed to the lack of attendance due to illness and physical defects of Pennsylvania school children, according to a report prepared today by Dr. J. Bruce McCreary, chief of the bureau of child health.

The report said that hundreds of thousands of correctible defects are discovered by the medical inspection of Pennsylvania school children each season.

"The obligation for the correction of these defects rests with the parents of the children," said Dr. McCreary, "and the lack of attendance in the schools due to illness and physical defects, directly traced to parental neglect, is one of the main factors for the expenditure of such a huge sum of money.

"On the basis of enrollment, the per capita cost for education is $48 a year, but, figured on attendance, due to disability, this amount is raised to $58.

"If parents would follow up the conditions brought to their attention through the school medical inspection," the report said, "vast numbers of children in Pennsylvania would derive more benefit from their instruction and would be so improved in their physical condition that much of the afterlife consequences of neglect would not develop."

Urges Hunters To Avoid Accidents

Too Much Carelessness Is Shown Already, Declares Truman

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—Reports from the entire State already indicate too much carelessness by hunters in the few days of the present open season, John B. Truman, executive secretary of the Game Commission said today. He again urged hunters to take every precaution to prevent injuring themselves or their companions.

Special care should be exercised in shooting in the woods at the present time, he said, because few leaves have fallen. This restricts the vision of the hunter and increases the need for absolute certainty before shooting, he asserted.

The commission has issued a list of twenty-two "Don't" rules for hunters. They have been distributed throughout the State, officials believing that their observance will help to decrease the annual toll of hunting accidents.

The record of the commission show that practically all accidents could have been avoided if an honest effort had been made to stop carelessness.

Truman, who is himself an ardent sportsman, criticized the practice of pushing the safety or setting the hammer each time a hunter believes but is not certain that he has sighted game. This, the records show, is one of the most deadly practices.

"It is better," Truman said, "to miss a thousand shots than to run the risk of injuring yourself or a companion. Push the safety or set the hammer only when game is actually in sight."

Don't Eat Raw Pork Dr. Campbell Warns

Practice Sometimes Results In Death, Is Warning From Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—A warning was issued today by Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the bureau of communicable diseases, State Health Department, regarding the hazardous practice of eating uncooked pork and pork products.

"At this season of the year hogs are butchered at home for family consumption," Dr. Campbell said. "Those preparing the meat and its products, especially during the mixing of sausage, frequently consume some of this material while still in the raw state. Others are likely to use smoked sausage as food without first subjecting it to the fire.

"These practices," he asserted, "carry the possibility of infection from the trichinosis parasite, which sometimes is found in hogs. The Department's records of last year showed a score of serious cases, directly traceable to this source, one of which resulted in death. With the use of ordinary precaution, not one of these infections need have occurred.

Gymnasium At High School Is Being Repaired

Gym classes at the Senior high school are not being held at present time on account of repairs being made to the gymnasium. The floor is now being sandpapered and smoothen out, and after this is done it will be varnished and made fit for the basketball season which is not far off. The gym classes will probably resume again at the start of next week.

Howard Wurlitzer Dies Of Illness

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Howard E. Wurlitzer of Cincinnati, chairman of the Rudolph Wurlitzer company, died early Tuesday at the Hotel Ritz here.

His wife and a brother-in-law, Karl Eilers of New York, were at the bedside. The son of the founder of the musical instrument company had been in ill health for several years. The body will be taken to Cincinnati.

In the sentence, "A movie star's salary is a good thing while it lasts," emphasis should properly be laid on the closing words.

Says Ten Herbs Helped Her In Wonderful Way

New Castle Lady Claims New Medicine Put Her On Road To Health.

"Ten Herbs certainly has helped me in a wonderful way," was the recent statement of Mrs. Mary Oleszycki, 1902 Penn Avenue, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington

MRS. MARY OLESZYCKI

Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this celebrated new herbal compound to crowds of men and women of all ages.

"Before using your medicine, I was in a badly run-down condition," Mrs. Oleszycki continued. "I felt weak—seemed to be aging before my time. Indigestion caused considerable pain. My appetite failed me completely, and I dreaded to eat. What little I ate filled me with gas, and a substance as sour as vinegar would come up in my throat. I became so nervous that the slightest noise annoyed me. Severe headaches came on me, and I would get so dizzy that I would have to stand still a minute and close my eyes to recover my balance. There were sharp pains in my back and loins. My rest was broken by having to arise several times during the night.

"After reading about Ten Herbs in the paper, I purchased a bottle, and was soon on the road that leads back to health. My digestion has improved, and gas and nauseated feeling have been greatly relieved. My appetite is improving in a splendid way, and I can retain food. Dizzy spells have passed away, and headaches are not so severe as they used to be. My nerves are in good condition, and the pains in my back and loins have been very much relieved, so that I can enjoy a good night's rest. I shall continue using Ten Herbs for awhile, as I feel sure it will soon give me glorious health. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to other sufferers."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

MULE LEADS AGENTS TO MOONSHINE STILL

BARDSTOWN, Ky., Oct. 31.—Charges of manufacturing moonshine whiskey against R. M. Vowells, forty; his son, Floyd, eighteen, and Richard Sproutman were heard Saturday before United States Commissioner Osso W. Stanley, after Federal agents had trailed a mule to a seventy-five-gallon still.

When the agents arrived at a point near which it was believed a still was, they found a sorrel mule hitched to a farm wagon. When they released the mule it led them to the still.

MIRRORS GIVE GIRLS SELF-RESPECT, SAYS ENGLISH PROFESSOR

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Prof. Tatham, head-master of King's College school, is tempted to believe that the mirror gives a girl under 16 more self-respect than is to be found in a boy of the same age.

"Would the boy be better if he took a little more pride in himself, and would the development of a love for the mirror increase a boy's self-respect?" is the question the professor is trying to answer.

More Than $7,000 Reported By Teams On Tuesday Night

Community Chest Fund Is Boosted To Nearly $44,000 At Second Meeting

Teams Are Making Big Effort To Reach Goal Set This Evening

With the funds in the New Castle Community Chest totaling $43,878.10, over 250 workers for the agencies today are making the clean-up drive over the city, in an effort to boost the total subscriptions to $80,000. At the report dinner which took place Tuesday evening in the east ballroom of The Cathedral, the teams reported 7,215.05 for Tuesday afternoon's solicitation, which, added to the amount they secured Tuesday morning, makes a total of $13,040.35.

Enthusiastic Meeting

Perhaps one of the best campaign meetings ever to take place in the city of New Castle was the one that was held Tuesday evening, when the workers who are already enthused over their various agencies and the work that they do, heard an inspirational address by the Rev. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church, immediately after the dinner. The Rev. Williamson kept his audience constantly laughing with that wit which is inimitably his own.

The whole meeting was shot through with a spirit of co-operation, with a spirit sure to bring victory when the workers conclude their canvass of the city this evening. It is a short campaign, and while unforeseen circumstances may lead to its being extended over another day, yet, states Herbert Pears, the director, this is not likely. Also, in view of certain success, Mr. Pears announced at the close of the Rev. Williamson's speech that the "kick-off" breakfast would be dispensed with this morning, as he believed that each team captain would be sure that the workers under him would be in their territories and working this morning. Before Mr. Williamson's speech "Red" Williams led pep singing, with Mrs. H. Rosenthal at the piano.

Dr. Williamson Speaks

Dr. Williamson opened his address with a few appropriate remarks on the types of people that the Chest workers would encounter in their territories and suggested various ways and means by which to handle them. Of the people who do not give to the Chest, he stated, the most obnoxious were those who were personally selfish and those who, out of a spirit of sheer perverseness, or because they did not like a particular agency, refused to donate.

"But the canvassers do not need to feel that they are beggars," he continued. "For they are not beggars. Rather they are envoys of God. God's work is done by the agencies they represent. The worker is merely collecting so that God's work can go on."

Dr. Williamson also mentioned the power of prayer: how the worker could pray for his success in the field, and how he could pray that the hearts of his prospects would be softened.

Must Be Enthusiastic

"Each worker should be enthusiastic: enthusiastic for the causes which the Community Chest represents. A lukewarm spirit never won anything. It is only by singing in one's own heart, singing the song of victory, can that victory be made a reality. People have money: some it is now taking to hell, and it is up to you to get some for the good causes. You are scattering the glory of the Divine over New Castle. You should be successful.

"Determination wins," he concluded. "Each worker can learn to approach his prospects in the right manner, and I know that everyone is doing his best in the beginning. And I hope that you are just beginning to fight. You are going fairly well at present, but I believe that you do not yet have the right spirit.

"Get the right spirit! Once each worker has that, I am sure that Wednesday evening we can write finis to the campaign: a campaign that has been a success.

See Every Prospect

Just before the meeting was adjourned Herbert Pears, director of the 1928-29 campaign, made a few remarks to the workers before he handed out additional cards representing more prospects.

"Each worker should be sure to see every prospect he has," said Mr. Pears. "Each subscription represented by the cards should be turned in, regardless of the effort they represent. I have every confidence that you will succeed, and that is why I am dispensing with the breakfast Wednesday morning. You can win. You have won before. There is no reason why you cannot win now.

"I have but one final word: Win!"

Because of a slight error, in that some workers counted payments on 1927 pledges in with their subscriptions for this year's campaign the total for Tuesday morning's work is $5,825.30, lower by $37.25 than the amount which was reported in Tuesday's News and by the amounts which are listed below. It is not changed in the detailed summary because the team to which the debit belongs is not known at the present time.

Average Prices Of Rams In State Was $34.60, Says Agent

Wool Associations Sponsor Four Ram Sales In State This Year

In addition to the sale of pure bred rams in Lawrence county, states County Agent Harold R. McCulloch, there were also three other similar sales. These sales took place in Indiana, State College and Montrose. The average sale price for each ram was $34.60.

This is but an indication of the potential wealth to every Lawrence county farmer, states the agent, in the raising of sheep and also in the care of the flocks.

It is now time to drench the flock for stomach worms, states McCulloch, and see that fresh pasture is obtained for the approach of the winter in good condition means that half of the wintering of the flock has been accomplished.

The kind of ram is also one of the best ways in obtaining greater results from a flock, declares the county agent, and this is the purpose of the ram sales, sponsored by wool associations. The local association sponsored a ram sale here a month ago.

What Doctors Say About the Laxative Habit

What do YOU do when the bowels need a little assistance? If you clear up the condition with some laxative made with CASCARA, there is nothing better for the system—for the blood.

But if you don't KNOW the laxative you have learned to depend on is of harmless cascara, here's some truly valuable advice:

The bark of a tree called cascara is the most marvelous conditioner mankind has yet found. It stimulates the bowel's muscular action, but does NOT weaken. A violent laxative forms the laxative HABIT. You always need more on the morrow. With cascara, you don't. Its gentle influence carries on sometimes for days. With less and less need of any aid, as time goes on.

So, the very next time you feel sluggish, take only a candy Cascaret. Delightful to the taste, sweet and acceptable to any stomach, and just as efficient as the powerful purges that fairly paralyze the peristaltic walls of one's intestines. The only habit you'll get from Cascarets is the one of going weeks and months without ANY help of the kind. And when you do invoke their aid again, the same small dose suffices. Any doctor can tell you about cascara; and any druggist has the candy Cascarets.

GAINED GLORIOUS HEALTH THRU USE OF NEW KONJOLA

Rundown System Invigorated By This Medicine; Also Ended All His Severe Ailments.

MR. JOHN SOMTAG

The amazing manner in which this new Konjola medicine has restored thousands of people to health after many years suffering from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels has not only become the talk of the drug and medical trades of this section but is also the subject of much interest to the general public. The Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, is daily explaining the merits of this medicine to large crowds of people. A steady stream of voluntary indorsements are received from former sufferers and among the latest to indorse Konjola is Mr. John Somtag, 911 Maryland avenue, New Castle, who made the following statement:

"I am publicly indorsing Konjola because I know what this medicine will do", said Mr. Somtag. "It has restored my health at a time when I felt sure nothing would ever give me the slightest relief.

"Some time ago I was taken sick with a severe case of influenza and when I had recovered from this sickness it seemed to me that my entire system was left in a very run-down condition. My whole body was a mass of aches and pains and nothing that I would ever do for relief helped me the least bit. It was almost impossible for me to get to sleep at night because my nerves were so upset I would roll and toss on my bed for hours. I steadily lost weight and strength until I was a mere shell of my former self. Then my kidneys became affected and I was forced to rise several times every night due to frequent bladder action and all during the day I was subject to severe pains across the small of my back that really made life miserable for me. I was quite discouraged because I thought my case was beyond hope and I would go through the rest of my life in this condition.

"But since I have taken Konjola everything is different and this medicine has made such a vast improvement in my condition that I can hardly realize I am the same person. It did not take a great quantity to produce the results I tried so long and hard to obtain. I have just completed the second bottle and I want to tell everyone that my health is all that I ever hoped it to be. I can go to sleep the minute I get in bed and I never wake up until the next morning. All the aches and pains have disappeared and I am steadily gaining in weight and strength. My kidneys are so much stronger that the night risings are things of the miserable past and those pains across my back never come over me. I have a keener enjoyment in the daily activities and am always filled with energy and ambition. It is a pleasure to indorse such a medicine and I know that others will gain the same benefits that I did if they will only give this medicine a fair trial."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Konjola contains juices from 22 plants—more than other medicines. It is a new compound that works with the sufferer's food, restoring more healthful action to the important organs (stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels) and producing new energy and glorious health in a natural way, thru the entire inner-system.

Life looks rosy for him

Health worth more than fortune

Heir to millions

THE baby to be envied is the one who is born with an inheritance of perfect health, to begin with. And who's lucky enough to have a mother who knows how to build up this fortune.

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned," she'll say to the doctor who pronounces her child physically 100% at a baby show, "but this health certificate means more to me than all the stock certificates in the world. If my baby grows up strong and well, I'm willing to leave it to him to make a career and fortune for himself.

"Already I'm teaching him the value of regular habits. Regular sleep, regular meals, regular functions. He's never once been off schedule, not even when he was cutting teeth or traveling to the country. I make sure of that by giving him Nujol regularly."

Nujol works so easily and naturally that it won't upset a baby under any conditions. It keeps everything functioning properly. It not only prevents any excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming but aids in their removal. It is safe and sure. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York.

Just try Nujol for your baby. Give it to him regularly for the next three months. See if it doesn't make things much easier for both of you. Certainly it could do no harm — for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. Your druggist carries it. Be sure you get the genuine. Sold only in sealed packages.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Philippines As An American Colony
The Americans In Manila

ON AUGUST 13, 1898, THE AMERICAN FORCES UNDER MAJOR-GENERAL WESLEY MERRITT CAPTURED THE CITY OF MANILA. THE NEXT DAY THE SPANIARDS SIGNED THE ARTICLES OF CAPITULATION AND GENERAL MERRITT ISSUED A PROCLAMATION ESTABLISHING A MILITARY GOVERNMENT OVER THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

THE AMERICANS AT ONCE TOOK OVER THE MANAGEMENT OF THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT, AND AMERICAN OFFICERS WERE PLACED IN CHARGE OF THE VARIOUS MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENTS. SHORTLY AFTERWARD, GENERAL MERRITT LEFT FOR PARIS TO ATTEND THE MEETING OF PEACE COMMISSIONERS THERE, AND WAS SUCCEEDED AS MILITARY GOVERNOR BY MAJOR-GENERAL OTIS.

THE OCCUPATION OF MANILA WAS FOLLOWED BY NO DISORDER OR LOOTING, AND THE CONDUCT OF OUR SOLDIERS WAS MOST CREDITABLE. ON AUGUST 13TH, WHEN OUR TROOPS ENTERED THE CITY, EVERYTHING WAS CLOSED, BUT BY THE 18TH ALL BANKS, FACTORIES AND STORES HAD OPENED FOR BUSINESS AND THE TRAM CARS WERE RUNNING.

THE GUARDIA CIVIL, OR LOCAL GENDARMES, PROVED INEFFICIENT, AND WAS DISARMED AND DISBANDED, AND THE TASK OF POLICING THE CITY WAS GIVEN TO THE 13TH MINNESOTA REGIMENT.

Scoreless Tie With Virginia University Only Mar On 1928 Record

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 31. — Is 1928 football at Princeton University about to spawn another team of destiny, one of those fancies of fate without which Hollywood would be just another bartender's apron? That approximately was the local idea today as a group of young men, humorously known as the student body, began to see study in the light of a virtue for the first time while they thumbed back six years through the leaves of their football diary to prove that Princeton will and must beat Ohio State at Columbus on Saturday.

Six years ago, Princeton had a football team that apparently couldn't go wrong, if it would. The fact of the matter was that it wouldn't. They say here that the 1928 outfit is much the same, only more so, and after it beats Ohio State—their story, not mine—it will have placed eastern football in the position it long has deserved—still their story—and long has escaped in a highly sensational manner, the afterthought being mine. The east has become a bit overstuffed on the patronizing air with which it is viewed by the rest of the country.

Headed For Title.

This year, it has a great chance to produce an unchallenged champion of the nation and Princeton figures it can do its part by beating the team that possibly is headed toward the big ten title. If that is achieved, the Army, having beaten Southern Methodist from the southwest and Yale and Harvard, winners over two southern conference teams, then can draw a line through Yale and Princeton to levy authority on the big ten.

All it would need after that is victories over Nebraska, probable big champion, and Stanford, impending winner on the coast to take title to the national championship. And all John Bananas needs toward his first million is $999,999.99. I know this because I personally saw him spend the other cent this morning.

Tied With Virginia.

Anyhow, it is a pretty picture and it hasn't much wrong with it except that the best of the south, Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Florida, etc., don't figure in the analogy while one of its worst, Virginia, got a scoreless tie with Princeton.

It is this incident around which resident optimists are weaving their notion of destiny. Princeton might have been scored upon in this game. It wasn't. It should have lost to Cornell on Saturday. It didn't. That they say, was the team of destiny all over again, a team that apparently didn't have anything, yet always had enough. It was the team that went west to Chicago to do the best it could. Its best, with Chicago leading by 19 to 7, was just too good. The middle west nasn't seen Princeton since and somehow has contrived to bear up very barely without it.

Have Few Veterans.

The present Princeton team only is like its predecessor in the fact that it has appeared in an unprepossessing light. It differs in the fact that on paper, it has the semblance of strength. It has Miles and Wittmer, the two backs who beat the Buckeyes last year. It should have better than fair forwards, with Howe, Bartell and Lawler, 1927 veterans and stinson and Barfield, 1927 substitutes, with which to do business.

The intangible something that links cohesion with strength, however, hasn't clocked as yet. This should be very disturbing, from the standpoint of Ohio State.

The woman scorned is an insipid matter compared to a Princeton football team that has been denied its click and suddenly finds out about it.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Scene 1—Davies and McCoy are matched.

Scene 2—McCoy and Davies have finished fighting.

Scene 3—A scene behind the curtains. McCoy has "trotted" from the shower bath and is dressing for the street. Davies is undressed and he is scanning the soles of his feet as he boxed barefooted for several rounds against McCoy. He trudged over hard cakes of resin some with pointed angles and naturally there were some stone blisters."

Scene 4—Enters "Chic" Johnson, trainer and adviser for McCoy—a man who has prepared athletes for many gruelling affairs: "Hello Willie" said "Chic" as the little Welshman scanned his feet. "How do you feel?' Davies smiled. "All right, Mr. Johnson, but my feet are sore." Johnson stopped short, said: "Wait a minute, Willie, let me see your feet."

Johnson examined them. He got some cotton, then some bandage. He secured some fluid to prevent poisoning. He then went to work. In ten minutes he had "treated" Davies feet —probably saved Davies from contracting blood poisoning. "There you are, Willie" said "Chic. "I think your feet will be all right soon.' The little Welshman smiled and replied: 'Thanks Mr. Johnson, I am awfully glad you did that."

And that is but one of the scenes behind the curtains of pugilism. Yes, it is true the boys, fired by the heat of ring fever sometimes "heel" perhaps use up an elbow or slip a blow on the breakaway but down deep in the uttermost part of their heart they are not all "dirty." Take the fight between Davies and McCoy. Each fought hard. They satisfied the public. They are performers not enemies.

Several days ago George Perotta, the beau brummel of the local fight brigade stood at Mercer and Washington streets. "Go get in shape and I'll have Jolly give you a match," we said to Perotta. "Dime and he can get together on the opponent and price and you will get another start." "I am glad to hear that" replied Perotta. "I'll do it."

"Do you know George" we continued, "I do not believe Firpo deserves the razzing he is accustomed to here" we said as the conversation continued to the case of the Fans versus Firpo. "He is a fighter, one who beat you but after all that is the game. They 'boo' him before he starts. Personally I don't care whether he wins or loses."

"You're right" said Perotta. "I think he is all right. Of course I would like to fight him again but I am willing to take on someone else first. The other night they thought he was 'elbowing.' He did not do it intentionally. When he missed with his right and in trying to work it free again, he withdrew his arm and naturally his elbow rubbed the chin."

This line of reasoning coming from no other than the boy Firpo defeated is sane. Firpo has won most of his bouts here but there is something about him fandom doesn't like, or is it someone else? Fans, there is one thing you should do. "Outgame Firpo." By this we mean, give him an even break. Let him be the first to break the pledge.

He is vicious, yes but who is not in a fight? He knows all of the tricks but as long as they are ethical trickery is to be condoned rather than condemned. Hybert who fought Firpo recently is a good fighter and no one has heard him condemn Firpo. To be frank, every boy who has fought Firpo has paid him a compliment by saying "He's good."

Hybert is returning to fight Hybert. He clash next Monday night. He knows he is coming to a place where most fans want to see him beaten. By crawling into the ring and facing a barrage of opposing voices he is showing that he has the heart. No one can deny this. As long as he fights clean, wins or loses, keep the booing down.

Personally we believe the boohing is hurting Jolly Bowl. Applaud every good effort of every boy. Just because they have been successful is no reason to condemn them. When Hybert goes through the ropes send up a rousing cheer. Do likewise when Firpo enters. You will find that it will hearten them both and then watch THAT fight.

You've seen actors on the stage. You've heard them get applause and seen the result the applause brought. After all a fighter is an actor—excepting that he performs inside ropes. Imagine boohing an actor? No one would think of it. Why a fighter? Give him an even break. Decide your own winner and loser. But be fair and considerate.

In the years of not so long ago a fighter who was boohed would have gazed over his opponent's shoulder and said to himself, "All right, you're giving me the 'pan.' I'll stall along and you'll pay to see me do it." Firpo is not that kind of a fighter. He has to earn his bread and butter and like or dislike he intends to battle.

In fighting Hybert he will have tough enough time. Likewise Hybert. They are matched about as evenly as possible. Firpo excels at long range. Hybert is the better infighter. The long knockouts are spectacular. The blows at close quarters are agonizing. Go out, fight someone and listen to the crowd against you. Feel how it injures your morale.

Why hate the man who can't see the truth of the situation as you do? A cripple can't run as you can, but you don't cuss him.

Intersectional Games To Feature Saturday

Princeton And Ohio State Game Headlines; Chicago To Meet Penn

Penn State Tackles Worthy Foe In Notre Dame Team; Army Vs. DePauw

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—With five Eastern teams tackling opponents from Midwestern sector, Saturday's football card presents a decidedly intersectional flavor. Princeton meets Ohio State on the latter's field. Penn clashes with Chicago in the Windy City. Penn State moves over to Philadelphia for the Notre Dame game. Army entertains De Pauw at West Point and Colgate plays Wabash at Hamilton, N. Y.

Princeton and Ohio State are undefeated, although the record of the Tigers is marred by a scoreless tie with Virginia. The Chicago engagement appears to be a likely spot for Penn to start a comeback such as they made last year after suffering several unexpected setbacks. Penn State should provide a first-rate test of the authenticity of Notre Dame's reformation.

New York U. vs. Georgetown

The Army-De Pauw game figures to be just a breeze for the Cadets. How Colgate will perform against Wabash is a mystery. Earlier in the season Colgate appeared to be one of the strongest teams in the East, but was crushed by New York University last Saturday, 47 to 6.

The New York University-Georgetown contest in New York will be the only game in which two undefeated and untied teams clash. The N. Y. U. warriors are second only to Georgetown in the list of the East's high scoring teams.

Yale and Dartmouth, both beaten for the first time last Saturday and both aching to take it out on somebody, will mingle at New Haven. Other ancient rivals will meet when Syracuse tackles Pittsburgh, Columbia meets Cornell and Lafayette battles Washington and Jefferson.

Harvard will have an easy opponent in Lehigh. Other Western games include Brown vs. Holy Cross and Navy vs. West Virginia Wesleyan.

Duquesne Gridders Prepare For Tilt With Westminster

Several Stars Out Of Game With Injuries; Crowd Will Be Big

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31 — Duquesne University prepares for its second Tri-State- Conference battle in which Westminster College is met Saturday at Pittsburgh. Layden is busy getting his men into shape after their first set-back of the season at the hands of Mac Flenniken's Covenanters at Beaver Falls last week, to the tune of 7-0. The Dukes played good consistent foot-ball except for a few minutes that they fell down permitting Geneva to score in the third period.

The Laydenites showed a certain tiredness or staleness in the battle. This was but natural as in their last four battles they have been taking some bad body beatings. The best backfield bet of the Bluffmen, Doggo Burns, right half, was on the bench still suffering from a bad knee gotten in the W. and J. game.

In the first quarter Eddie Steeves, hither-to, considered good but nothing extraordinary, tore through the Covenanter line for good gains of 12, 6 13 yards time after time. He reached the enemy 10 strip line when one of his mates fumbled. On the next play Eddie was put out with a bruised knee. Doctors at the Mercy hospital declared he had a hemorrhage in the knee. Indications are that this new found luminary will be out of the game for at least two weeks.

Westminster stopped the aerial game of Thiel and if, like Geneva, they can stop the Dukes' passing, also, they stand a very big chance of winning. Chances are that Layden will have his charges desert the air and with Burns in harness again will try a hard running game. Donnelli was not quite in shape for running the oval at Beaver Falls although his kicking was up to it's usual standard. He also will be in trim for the United Presbyterians.

Manimy and O'Donnell, injected at tackle in the closing moments of play showed enough stuff to indicate that they will be able to give new life to the sagging Duquesne line. Kelleher will undoubtedly be able to get in at guard in the coming tussle to further strengthen the forward wall.

Layden will have to rest his charges this week and the daily scrimmage will be abandoned. Westminster is pointing for their game with the Dukes as have all the unfortunate Pittsburghers' opponents. Dyke Beede has clashed with Elmer Layden twice, once as player again as coach. Both times Elmer came out on top. Now is Dyke's chance for revenge for the 40-19 and 10-0 bestings he has gotten.

With only one other Pittsburgh team competing, John Holahan, Duke graduate manager, expects a big crowd and has been making arrangements. A big influx of Westminster rooters is expected.

Chicago Hopes To Defeat Penn Team

Penn Rules Favorite To Defeat Stagg Coached Eleven In Windy City

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Chicago football fans are hopeful for the best when the badly-battered Maroons meet the powerful Penn outfit on Stagg Field Saturday afternoon.

Judging from past performances, it is this pair who put on the season's first intersectional match for local fans. The preponderance of evidence," however is greatly in favor of the Easterners, who were among the leading candidates for national honors until their unfortunate episode with the Navy last week.

The Maroons, with five varsity contests on their record, have managed to amass a single victory. In the quintet of games they've scored 54 points —47 of them against Wyoming, which provided the only triumph, and the remaining seven against Minnesota. Penn, on the other hand, has won four and lost one, and the touchdown that gave the Navy the victory last Saturday was the first time that an enemy had galloped over the Quaker goal. To offset these six markers, Penn has accumulated 161 points in its scoring column.

Ma, Max And The Bull

By [illegible]

Let's take a look at "Ma" Stevens, now in the throes (and the Elis are weak at throwing, too) of his first year as head coach at Yale, which, friends, is a man's job, as Tad Jones will readily agree. His real name is Marvin Allen Stevens, and he first made a name for himself in things "gridironical" at Washburn College, Kansas. Marvin tried out for the Yale team in the fall of 1923, and found himself one of a galaxy of stars, such as Bill Mallory, Century Milstead, Widdy Neale, Lyle Richeson, Nell Neidlinger, and Ducky Pond.

One critic hit the nail on the head when he said that Stevens was "too good for his own good." For the young backfield flash from Kansas was literally unstopable. Tad Jones had so much backfield material that he could afford to save Stevens for climax runs in the Army, Princeton, and Harvard games. Yale beat the West Pointers that year 31 to 10. Princeton was smothered 17 to 0. Both victories were won in a large measure by Stevens' runs. In the 13 to 0 Harvard game, played in a sea of mud, Stevens proved himself an extraordinary punter, and his long low kicks with the wet ball kept Harvard deep in its own territory.

If Tad Jones' successor gets by Army, Dartmouth, Maryland, Princeton, and Harvard without taking a licking, it will be a remarkable first season for a new coach. The Georgia defeat has been avenged, and Brown has been handily beaten at this writing. Yale, the "chadle of football," has no Coys, Heffelfingers, Shevlins or Hinkeys, but it has a fine young coach, a good tackle for a captain, and such men as Garvey, Hoben, Decker and Ellis, who are going to do plenty of scoring before the season is over.

ROY WITT
—TENNESSEE

Roy Witt stands out as one of the best all-around backs in Dixie. Last season many sports writers chose him as the Southland's outstanding punter, while his forward passing, blocking and ball-toting ability also attracted much attention. Tennessee completed 40 out of 72 passes tossed in six conference games last year, and it was Roy who did practically all of the Vols' heaving.

This is Witt's third time to captain a football team, he having led the Baylor school of Chattanooga eleven in 1924 and the U. T. Frosh eleven in 1925. He is a senior.

South Hills Eleven Shows Fine Record

By "BUGS" WALTHER

South Hills high football team of Pittsburgh will come to Franklin field Saturday afternoon with a fine gridiron record to date. The locals are expecting a tough battle with the Pittsburghers.

Numbered among the victories of the South Hills team this season is Oliver high, 7 to 0, and the strong Allegheny high team 7 to 0. The South Hills team played a deadlock at 6-6 with the powerful Perry high team of Pittsburgh. The South Hills team is one of the strongest in the Pittsburgh district this year and they figure to give the New Castle eleven a good game.

Fast Backfield.

The South Hills backfield composed of Riske, Davis, Pietsch and Critchlow is reported to be fast and quite shifty. Schenley and Westinghouse failed to give the Lawrence countians much opposition, and the South Hills team is anxious to uphold the reputation of the Smoky City.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh sent the New Castle team through a stiff workout yesterday afternoon at the Franklin field, and plans to continue with hard drills all week. New Castle has a big assignment in the next three weeks, starting with South Hills, then Greensburg and Beaver Falls.

The red and black cripples have responded to treatment, and the strongest possible lineup will face South Hills this coming Saturday. The locals will be fighting mad Saturday follling their recent deadlock at Washington and they may be out to show the fans that they really have a good scoring attack.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Sports Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

The recent announcement from abroad that Paavo Nurmi the great Finish middle-distance runner has started training for the marathon classic of the 1932 Olympic games is interesting.

Four years seems a long time as the calendar goes. It seems a longer time in terms of tedious hours on the road rolling off mile after mile as a monotonous jog.

One is inclined to speculate as to what the sport situation in general will be when 1932 rolls around. But on the other hand we probably would be disappointed were we able to foresee conditions then.

For, as a mater of fact, Miller Huggins probably will be winning the American league pennant as usual—with Babe Ruth's legs still giving out to the point where he will be barely able to circle the bases three times in one world's series game.

Rogers Hornsby will be moving to another ball club. He still has four more in the National league to visit.

Walter Hagen and Johnny Farrell will still be in the throes of their world's professional championship series.

Bobby Jones will still be winning the major portion of the national titles.

The National Lawn Tennis association will be getting all tangled up in another Davis cup series.

And Jack Dempsey will still be the most talked of heavyweight in the game—or out.

We'll even have another presidential campaign with prohibition, farm relief and tariff being tossed at the durable public with the same abandon that is characterizing the present one.

After all it may be a blessing that Nurmi has his heart set on giving the jolly old world something new four years hence.

For a time the crowd mingled together masked, with everyone trying to pick out everyone else. After they unmasked. Emmett Kurtz ,commander of the Daniel Leasure Camp, Spanish-American War Veterans took charge as chairman and a lunch was enjoyed.

Speakers of the evening were Mr. Kurtz, Attorney Orville Brown and Harold C. Hunter, secretary to Congressman J. Howard Swick.

It was a night of pleasure for the lads who went out in '98 and was one of the most enjoyable parties they have staged in some time.

Budget Making Time Is Nearing For City Council

Inasmuch as council now meets only twice a week and there are various matters in committee of the whole, such as the street traffic survey, Union township sewer connections, request for exoneration of personal taxation by volunteer firemen and other matters, it is anticipated that council will some day gather and dispose of the questions as practically only six weeks remain until the budget for 1929 is prepared.

SORDS POINTS

Nominating Mr. Banker, Pigskin Candidate

By JACK SORDS.
Sports Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

Tulane of New Orleans may have no national football championship aspirations this season but followers of the Green Wave have their eyes on the All-American selections which will be bobbing up within several weeks.

The reason is Willis Banker—the Blond Blizzard of Tulane they call him—sensational halfback and triple-threat man.

Blondy Bill putting it shortly is a wow. He can run like a demon, smash the line in tornadic fashion, pass and kick with the best of 'em.

In the first four games of the season Blondy Bill scored nine touchdowns. And he was just getting started! If Bill was playing on one of the Big Ten teams or with one of the great grid aggregations of the east you'd see his name in big print most every day. As it is he's the sensation of the south and getting better with 'most every game.

Already Dixie football fans are comparing him with the immortal 'Peerless Peggy' Flournoy whose deeds are southern grid classics.

Banker is only a junior and that means he will have another season after this one. In 1927, green to big college football he smacked, battered, booted and tossed his way into prominence.

This year he has surpassed all expectations.

Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt licked Tulane but for only one reason—Bill Banker, good as he is, can't play all 11 positions at once.

Gangster Found Shot To Death In Automobile; Wife Collapses

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—An echo of the bitter internecine warfare between St. Louis and Chicago gangs was seen today with the finding of the body of Vinci Signorelli, 43, shot to death in his automobile in Forest Park, suburb.

A passerby, noticing blood dripping from the door of the sedan summoned police who found identification cards in his pocket.

Mrs. Mary Signorelli, widow, collapsed when informed of her husband's death.

She explained her husband had been the victim of an attack in St. Louis three months ago while there on a visit at that time she said Vinci had been shot in the stomach by unknown assailants.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Moderate recoveries from Tuesday's reaction were scored in the first hour today by the speculative leaders in all groups. Stocks of the theatrical companies pushed forward, under the lead of Warner Brothers, Shubert and Keith-Albee. The steel stocks and the coppers responded to the favorable news in their industries. U. S. Steel Corporation's third quarterly statement having shown net earnings slightly in excess of expectations. High priced favorites like Radio and Nickel sold up 3-5 points in the first period.

Hesitancy in the stock market on the eve of the election and the month-end money-shifting period is not to be wondered at. The November interest and dividend disbursements will be much larger than usual. Aggregation about $350,000,000, against $100,000,000 in the same month of 1927.

Kolster Radio continued its brilliant forward movement, and topped 87 for a new high, and International Nickel jumped 6 points. The Standard and independent oils were again in the buying zone, and commanded a slightly higher range of prices.

Stocks of the steel, equipment, railroad and sugar companies were camparatively quiet, with narrow price changes. The rails made little or no response to the favorable forecasts of the October earnings statements.

Call money renewals 7½ per cent.

Four Small Pigs Are Killed By Hound Dog Early This Morning

James French of Harbor Bridge had the misfortune last night to have five registered ten weeks old Berkshire hogs killed and four fatally wounded by a hound dog which got into his pen about 5 o'clock this morning.

Members of the household were awakened by the squealing of the pigs and arrived at the scene just in time to see the dog leave and before they could get a shot at the dog. They thought when awakened by the squealing of the pigs that their experience of last Thanksgiving, when four small pigs were stolen, was being repeated.

The dog attacked all nine pigs at the back of the neck. The wounded pigs will not survive their injuries. The farmers of the district are aroused and promise dire vengeance on dogs caught in the act in the future.

Dogs are not permitted to run at large and the owner of this dog could be subjected to a heavy penalty.

Parents-Teachers Meet On West Side

Three Hundred Attend Hallowe'en Event At West Side School

Members of the Parent-Teachers Association of the West Side school held what was considered the most successful Hallowe'en social in the organization's history Tuesday night. More than 300 parents, teachers and students of the school attended.

A program of stunts and other acts featured the evening's entertainment. Fortune-telling booths, hot dog stands and places where doughnuts, coffee and home-made candy were served provided the refreshments of the affair.

At this time it was decided to make the event an annual affair, open to all of the students of that building. Last evening's masquerade was termed a grand success.

The committee in charge of the Hallowe'en event consisted of Mrs. Chauncey Davis, chairman; Mrs. Charles Pollock, Mrs. Lewis Turner, Miss Bernice Davenport and Miss Ruth Woodworth. The latter two represented the teachers on the committee.

Announcement is made that the next meeting of the parents and instructors will occur at the school building on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 6, at three o'clock.

New Castle, Del., Is Referred To In News Item

An item appearing in various papers under a New York date line was to the effect that arrangements had been made to finance an expansion program of the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation of New Castle, Pa., so that it might fill an order for three hundred planes placed by Edward F. Schlee and William Brock for use in general airplane service. These are the men who flew from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Japan last year.

Investigation here today indicates that it was a typographical error in naming New Castle, Pa., and that it referred to the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation of New Castle, Delaware.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

As you might expect, the roaming last night was done on the South Side where the boys and girls threw a Hallowe'en celebration. And just to allay any doubts as to whether or not it was a success, be assured that it was.

It was the biggest blow out Slabtown has seen since the night the restaurant was demolished through a gas explosion and that was considered big time stuff. So was the Hallowe'en celebration.

The affair was one of dual good. First of all it gave the South Siders a real celebration and secondly it started the ball for the celebration on Washington street tonight. There were so many people on Long avenue last night that you could almost feel the buildings give, and if there had been any more they would have been on each other's shoulders.

There was only one jarring note in the whole thing. Provost Marshal James E. Thomas wasn't on the job on account of an injury to his foot. And on the night he was supposed to be out on the job, he was in the house nursing an infection.

People have to have a safety valve to release pent up energies and a Hallowe'en celebration is one way to do it. For a little while it makes people forget that the grocer is insisting on his money or that the taxes are due on the first. And if it does nothing else a Hallowe'en celebration is valuable for that little moment of surcease from the harsh things of life.

More, it brings down to the lighted streets a crowd of youngsters who otherwise would be carting off steps from porches, knocking down fences and raising the dickens in general. As a measure of safety and precaution it is valuable.

Of course you never did anything like that (pardon me while I chuckle up my cuff) but the rest of us did. There was that night when we only meant to take the steps, but most of the baseboard came along with it. If most of the sedate men of today had to go to jail for their Hallowe'en depradations when they were youngsters, Sheriff Buck Reynolds would have to have a new jail.

It isn't a vicious motive that prompts small boys to do that sort of thing. It's merely misdirected energy and an age old desire to celebrate Hallowe'en with a little something out of the ordinary. A parade and a celebration gives them the opportunity to blow off a lot of steam and the merchants of any district, South Side, Seventh ward or the downtown section are to be congratulated for sponsoring such an affair.

See you tonight at the downtown Hallowe'en celebration.

Cigarette Causes Long Avenue Fire

Some one dropped a lighted cigarette butt down through the grating from the street to the cellar of the residence of Fritz Lehberger at 2½ East Long avenue at 11:35 p. m. Tuesday, causing a small fire which was easily extinguished by fire company No. 5 with the assistance of the aerial truck from No. 1. There was no loss.

According to the report of Assistant Fire Chief H. C. Stockman, there were some papers and debris at the base of the grating which it is thought that a cigarette butt thrown there had ignited. The call came from box 55.

Many Ballots Have Been Distributed

County commissioners believe that voters ought to have a pretty good idea of the ballot to be used at the coming election, judging from the thousands of sample ballots which have been distributed. Many of these distributions have been through school children. Nearly all of the schools in this city have received supplies of ballots, as well as many of the country schools.
